Carter says VP choice could be woman, black

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter says his vice presidential choice is likely to have a Washington background and could be a woman or a black. But the former Georgia governor isn't ready to name names.

Personal reasons cited

Ed Fisher resigns from City Council

By GEORGE MALEK

After 17 months on one of the city's seven hot seats, Washington C.H. City Council member Eddie Fisher tendered his resignation Wednesday night.

The letter of resignation submitted to City Council chairman Joseph O'Brien stated that Fisher would vacate the seat for personal reasons. The resignation becomes effective July 30 or as soon as a replacement can be found.

Fisher, 149 Carolyn Road, a welding supervisor at the Armco Steel Corp.

Additional coverage of Wednesday night's regular Washington C.H. City Council meeting can be found on page 8 of today's edition.

Metal Products Division was appointed last January to fill a Council vacancy.

The 44-year-old Fisher took the oath of office Jan. 22, 1975 after being appointed to the seat vacated by City Council member Hugh S. (Bud) Patton.

The term was to expire Dec. 31, 1977. Council has been cloaked in controversy throughout Fisher's tenure.

An income tax imposed in 1975 was later repealed on an initiative action. Petitions for a similar action are now being circulated against the present tax. Late in 1975, Council accepted a government grant and authorized installation of a $23.6 million sewer system.

There was an unsuccessful effort to abandon the council-manager form of government last year, and petitions to bring this issue to a vote in 1976 are also being circulated at the present time.

EDDIE FISHER

Whatever the personal reasons for the resignation, the constant pressure to which all Council members have been subjected has undoubtedly taken its toll.

O'Brien accepted the letter from Fisher with a deep sense of personal regret. Members of Council as well as the majority of Council's critics greatly respected Fisher's dedication to the post.

He was a staunch advocate of openness in government. He himself had backed his votes, popular or unpopular, with reasoning. Fisher occasionally criticized his colleagues for failure to support their positions.

Alleged FBI burglars mum with attorneys

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents under investigation for allegedly committing burglaries have been ordered not to talk to their lawyers about their case until the lawyers are cleared to receive secret government information.

Department sources have confirmed that the civil rights division is investigating at least 20 FBI agents involved in intelligence-gathering burglaries during the past five years. The probe involves possible illegal violations of the civil rights of American citizens.

The FBI agents were given the instructions about their lawyers in a teletyped message from FBI headquarters last Friday, according to Jack B. Solerwitz, an attorney representing some of the FBI men.

The restriction suggests that the Justice Department probe involves break-ins which the FBI considered sensitive national security matters.

"My clients have been told they are the targets of an investigation of surreptitious entries," Solerwitz said in an interview Wednesday.

Coffee Break...

THE JULY 4 worship services in front of the Courthouse will take place at 11 a.m., and not 11 p.m., as was mistakenly reported in the Wednesday edition of the Record-Herald.

THE OHIO Bureau of Employment Services office in Washington C.H. will be closed Monday July 5 in observance of Independence Day.

Mrs. Gayle Kelly, manager of the Washington C.H. office, said claimants who normally report on Monday should report on Tuesday at the regular scheduled times.

He declined to say how many of the agents he represents or to identify them. But some are assigned to the FBI's New York office, he said.

Solerwitz said department investigators telephoned the FBI men at their homes during the weekend of June 12 to inform them they were under investigation and that they would be advised of their right to keep silent and to retain an attorney.

A teletyped message from FBI headquarters June 16 advised the agents to hire private lawyers, Solerwitz said.

"The Justice Department has made it clear to these agents that they will not be provided counsel" by the government, he said. Under current policy, the department refuses to provide lawyers to defend employees in criminal investigations.

Solerwitz is representing the agents for free in his capacity as attorney for the Federal Criminal Investigators Association.

The FBI message June 18 instructed the agents not to disclose details of the case until their attorneys get security clearances. Solerwitz said he doesn't know how long it will take to get the clearance. Such clearances normally are processed through the FBI and the department.

Solerwitz said he has conferred from conversations with the chief prosecutor that the investigation will reach into the supervisory ranks of the FBI.

"I have no doubt their investigation would not terminate with these agents," he said. "Any prosecutor would go higher."

It could not be determined which or how many organizations or individuals may have been burglarized by the FBI during the past years.

The five-year period is significant because the statute of limitations precludes federal prosecutions for civil rights offenses more than five years old.

The disclosure that break-ins were conducted since 1971 contradicts the FBI's insistence that burglaries against domestic targets ended in 1966.

convenes its national convention in New York next month.

He commented in a brief news conference Wednesday night after flying from New York, where he delivered a foreign policy speech and took part in five fund-raising events to help cover campaign debts.

The Republican presidential battle resumes today when President Ford and Ronald Reagan step up their delegate hunt. GOP delegates will be selected at four state conventions this coming weekend.

Carter planned separate meetings today with House and Senate Democrats; House Speaker Carl Albert and Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill; Sens. Robert Byrd of West Virginia; Edmund Muskie of Maine, and Henry Jackson of Washington.

He also was to meet with Democratic Party Chairman Robert Strauss.

Carter also said he has decided to decline President Ford's offer of an FBI background check of prospective running mates.

"The more I think about it, the more I think it would be inappropriate," said Carter, who expressed concern last week that such an investigation could violate privacy rights.

But he said that before the Democratic National Convention, he or a staff member will conduct personal interviews with "one or more" of those under consideration for the No. 2 position on the ticket.

Carter told reporters "the likelihood is that it will be someone with Washington experience," although he said there are some persons on the list without that background.

He said in reply to questions that he was "seriously" considering either a black or a woman, but refused to comment in greater detail.

Carter asked his polling organization recently to test public opinion of vice presidential possibilities, including Sen. Alan Cranston of California, who took himself out of the race Wednesday night, saying vice-presidential speculation was hurting his campaign for Senate Whip.

Carter now has 1,487 of the 1,505 delegates needed for the nomination, according to an Associated Press tally. He could go over the top when North Dakota Democrats select 13 delegates on Friday.

Carter aides said that in the New York fund raisers, Carter raised about $175,000. Two fundraising events in Boston on Tuesday brought in about $60,000, he said.

Carter campaign treasurer Robert Lipshutz said last week the campaign was about $600,000 in debt.

The Republican delegate tally stands at 1,008 for Ford and 928 for Reagan, an 80-delegate lead for the President with 161 delegates uncommitted and 161 yet to be chosen.

After four days at home in California, Reagan flies to Mississippi today where there are 30 uncommitted GOP national convention delegates, the largest remaining uncommitted bloc. Ford was working in Washington today and has no political journeys scheduled for this weekend.

Simultaneous bell-ringing set July 4th

If you hear a ringing in your ears on July 4, it may be the result of a planned nationwide event in which Fayette County residents are being asked to participate.

On that special Sunday, at 2 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time, a simultaneous "bell ringing" is scheduled to take place across the nation. The Fayette County Bicentennial Commission is requesting that all Fayette County area residents possessing bells ring them at this time for two minutes.

According to informed sources, bells of all sizes, shapes, and volume will commence ringing in every state at 2 p.m. EDT. A distinctive tone will be broadcast over radio from Philadelphia to inaugurate the event.

At the completion of the two minute ringing period in Washington C.H., the July 4 parade will commence. The Fayette County Bicentennial Commission hopes that spectators lining the parade route will bring bells and participate in the occasion.

New OSU cage coach tells Chamber crowd

'We'll deserve to win everytime'

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Editor

Ohio State University's basketball fortunes have been sagging during the past few seasons, but it appears that situation will change shortly at least on the surface.

Eldon Miller, a young, quiet man who was selected three months ago to turn around the Buckeye basketball program, promised an exciting and never-say-die team to the audience at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting Wednesday night.

"I don't know how good we can play, but don't count us out. We'll play to the hilt," said Miller who served as head basketball coach at Western Michigan University for six years before being named Ohio State's ninth basketball mentor.

"We can't win everytime, but we'll deserve to win everytime," said Miller in looking ahead to his new assignment. "No one has beaten us yet. They'll have to do it on the (basketball) floor."

The enthusiastic and personable Miller told the crowd of more than 200 persons in the Mahan Building that, "We hope if you come to watch us once, you'll want to come back. Nothing suffers more than basketball without enthusiasm."

Miller, who has 15 years of coaching experience at the college level including 14 years as a head coach, admitted he has his work cut out because of minimal recruiting.

"We've got a lot of work to do, but I'm excited about it. I hope you'll thoroughly enjoy us making Ohio State basketball what it should be," Miller stated.

Ohio State's new head coach linked education with recruiting.

"We want players who are going to graduate," Miller noted. "Ohio State University is an educational institution and there are very few players who are going to play pro ball. We're looking for kids who really want a college education, and we've already turned down a couple of players with great talent because they weren't concerned with their schooling."

There are no secrets to recruiting, according to Miller.

"It's just hard work. It's the most demanding and most important part of winning college basketball games."

"We don't recruit every top basketball player, but you don't have to. Only three of the top five are needed every year. Ohio is a great basketball state, but we won't stop at state lines when recruiting," Miller emphasized.

He said his staff is presently visiting high school juniors and that the assistant coaches will travel over 20,000 miles each next year in recruiting high school talent.

The 36-year-old Miller predicted that "it will take two more years (of recruiting) before we'll (Ohio State) have a great year."

But, Miller stressed that athletics can become too serious.

"If you (the fans) find me taking myself too serious, kick me in the rear end. I also plan to have fun with Ohio State basketball."

Som kind words were spoken by Miller about Fred Taylor, the 51-year-old dean of Big Ten basketball coaches whom he replaced.

"When he (Taylor) resigned, it made me sad. He was always my idol, Miller explained. "He was a coach's coach and an athlete's coach. He was one of the finest in the United States," Miller said of Taylor, who was the Ohio State helm for 18 years.

However, Miller said he was pleased Ohio State officials waited so long to name Taylor's replacement.

"Winning was new at Western Michigan, and I wasn't going to do anything to detract from it," said the 1961 product of Wittenberg University, Springfield.

Miller led Western Michigan University to its finest year ever last season when the Broncos posted a 25-3 record and advanced to the NCAA Mid-

JFK assassination probe continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Schweiker says his staff is pursuing a number of leads on the assassination of President Kennedy that could link the 1963 slaying to a pro-or anti-Cuban conspiracy.

The leads were not disclosed in the Senate intelligence committee's report on the assassination, Schweiker said. The committee report was released Wednesday, revealing a pattern of noncooperation between key CIA and FBI officials and the Warren Commission, which concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy.

One lead mentioned in the Senate committee report, involving the "strange travel" of a Cuban-American with a possible tie to Oswald and Cuban intelligence, also is being pursued. Staffers are checking a reported sighting of the man in Dallas at the time of the Kennedy assassination in November 1963, Schweiker said.

The Pennsylvania Republican refused to disclose any details concerning one "very hot lead" that would link the assassination to an anti-Cuban group or another "very promising" lead involving pro-Cuban forces, saying to do so would jeopardize the investigation.

Schweiker commented following the release of a 106-page report Wednesday which said the CIA and FBI have followed up leads that "might have substantially affected the course of the investigation" into whether there was a conspiracy to kill Kennedy.

The report said "it is difficult to understand" why the CIA did not investigate the possibility that Cuba's Fidel Castro knew about a 1963 CIA plot against his life and ordered Kennedy's death in retaliation.

The plot, involving an undercover agent code-named AM-LASH, continued even though "reports received by the CIA during the fall of 1963 contained information which should have raised questions about the operation's security," suggesting AM-LASH may have been a double agent working with Cuban intelligence.

Agency officials talked to AM-LASH in October 1963 and on Nov. 22 — the day Kennedy was shot — AM-LASH was given a poison pen device by the CIA with which to kill Castro, according to the report.

Schweiker said he would be unable to pursue the possibility that the AM-LASH plot triggered Kennedy's assassination because members of his staff do not have needed clearances for access to CIA documents.

Schweiker said his investigators also are at a dead end in pursuing a lead that involves a mysterious Cubana Airlines flight from Mexico City to Cuba on the night of Kennedy's death.

The report said that in December 1963 the CIA received information that the flight was delayed for five hours awaiting an unidentified passenger who arrived in a twin-engine aircraft at 10:30 p.m. and boarded the Cubana plane without passing through customs, where he would have needed to identify himself.

However, Schweiker said his investigators are still tracking the "strange travel" patterns of a Cuban-American mentioned in the report as having a possible involvement in the assassination. The man may have had contact with Oswald.

Schweiker said his investigators are now checking a reported sighting of the man in Dallas at the time of the assassination.

The Senate committee report said it is not known why "senior officials in the CIA and FBI permitted the Warren Commission to reach its conclusions without all relevant information" but added that it is possible that the officials "made conscious decisions not to disclose potentially important information."

According to the report, senior government officials "wanted the investigation completed promptly and all conspiracy rumors dispelled."

Within 14 hours of Kennedy's death, the FBI narrowed the focus of its investigation to Oswald alone and within weeks issued a report concluding Oswald was the sole assassin, the report said.

Carter says

Republican state conventions will be held Friday and Saturday in four states. Sixty-three Republican will be selected — 18 in Minnesota, 20 in Montana, 21 in New Mexico and 4 in Idaho.

Ford is looking for a sweep in Minnesota, but a rules change is needed to make it possible. Reagan backers want to take all 20 Montana delegates, but Ford's supporters are holding out for a 13-7 split.

Ford campaigners concede the President is unlikely to win even a single delegate in New Mexico. The four Idaho delegates are also likely to go to Reagan.

Four indicted in 1961 union murder

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, a Teamsters boss questioned in the Jimmy Hoffa disappearance, remained in custody today after being indicted in the 1961 kidnap-murder of a union official.

Three other men were also named in the indictment.

Provenzano, 59, secretary-treasurer of Local 560 in Union City, N.J., and a powerhouse in Teamsters politics for more than a decade, was charged Wednesday in the murder of Anthony "Three Fingers Brown" Castellito, who was secretary-treasurer of Local 560 when he disappeared.

A federal grand jury in New York charged the four men with violating federal kidnapping and conspiracy statutes.

The other defendants were identified as Salvatore Briguglio, the 13,000-member local's business agent; George J. Vangelakos of Jersey City, and Harold Konigsberg, presently serving a 44-year sentence at the Clinton Correctional Facility in Danamora, N.Y., for extortion.

In Ulster County, N.Y., another indictment Wednesday charged Briguglio and Konigsberg with murder and Provenzano with conspiracy to commit murder in the same case.

The indictments charged that the defendants, along with two unindicted coconspirators, agreed to lure Castellito from Lodi, N.J., to his farm in Kerhonkson, N.Y., for the murder.

One of the unindicted coconspirators is reportedly a government witness. The other is dead.

The federal indictment charged that Provenzano paid $10,000 to Briguglio for the murder.

It also alleged that as a reward for his part in the scheme, Briguglio was appointed the local's business agent by Provenzano.

Bail for Briguglio and Provenzano was set at $100,000 each. It was originally set at $200,000 each, but a federal judge reduced it. Bail for Vangelakos, a trucker, was set at $50,000.

Provenzano reportedly opposed Hoffa's attempt to regain the national presidency of the Teamsters. He reportedly also had violent arguments with Hoffa over his loss of pension benefits.

Hoffa has been missing since July 30, 1975. His body has not been recovered, and no one has been charged in connection with the case.

Before he disappeared, Hoffa allegedly told his wife he planned to meet Provenzano and Anthony Giacalone, a Detroit gangster, at a restaurant outside of town.

Last U.S. advisers leave Chinese isles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last U.S. military advisers on Quemoy and Matsu, the two Nationalist Chinese islands near mainland China, are being removed, a State Department official says.

The official said the step was part of a general reduction of U.S. military personnel overseas. He also said it was tied to the Shanghai communique issued at the end of then-President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 visit to mainland China.

That mutual declaration included a statement that the United States would cut its military activity in the Far East as part of the U.S. effort to improve relations with the mainland.

The decision to remove the last military advisers could add fuel to Ronald Reagan's claim that the Ford administration is giving up Taiwan for improved relations with Peking. There are a total of five or six American advisers on the islands, according to U.S. officials.

The two islands lie about 20 miles from the mainland and approximately 100 miles from Taiwan. Since 1949 when the Chinese Communists won the civil war and the losing forces of Chiang Kai-shek fled to Taiwan and Quemoy and Matsu, the two heavily fortified islands have been a symbol of National-alist Chinese resistance to the mainland.

The official, who asked that his name not be used, said the removal of the advisers was "in the works" as part of a "worldwide, routine reduction in military activity." He did not specify any timetable.

The official noted that the 1972 Shanghai communique dealt with the eventual decrease of U.S. military activity in the Far East. He said the U.S. force on Taiwan had been reduced from 10,000 in 1972 to about 2,000 troops now there.

A ranking House member reported a month ago that he was told "there is a movement afoot" in the State Department to end U.S. relations with Taiwan after the November election and establish full diplomatic relations with Peking.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., in line to become chairman of the House International Relations Committee next year, said he learned of the move from Taiwanese diplomats. The State Department sidestepped the issue at the time and said only that President Ford has reaffirmed U.S. determination to normalize relations with Peking.

The U.S. position has been that any attack against the two islands would be viewed as an attack on Taiwan itself.

East Regionals. The 25 wins was a new school record and the team won its first-ever undisputed Mid-American Conference championship, accomplishments which helped Miller win the "Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year" title in 1976.

On a somewhat patriotic note, Miller related experiences of a 23-day tour to Finland and Italy with the Western Michigan team last summer.

"Never before have I appreciated what we have in the United States today than I did after the trip," Miller stressed. It (the United States) ain't perfect, but it's a helluva lot better than what they (the Europeans) have."

He continued, "I'd like to have every young person in the state go. You can't appreciate the U.S. enough until you spent some time over there."

Miller closed with a sales pitch after fielding questions from the audience. "Get your season tickets now," he said.

It wouldn't be surprising if many of the more than 200 persons attending the meeting did just that.

Simon's newest comedy in Sabina

SABINA, Ohio — They said it couldn't be done, but Neil Simon has indeed made a funny play out of the Book of Job.

The well-known playwright has transferred the scene to a mansion on Long Island where a tycoon, a wife draped in diamonds, a prodigal son, and a pair of kookie twins reside.

Everything is fine until one fateful night a prowler enters — a messenger from God with a big "G" on his sweatshirt. The modern Job will not renounce God, so forthwith a fire is sent to wipe him out — factory and home. Everything becomes a test of his faith.

The Simon comedy, "God's Favorite," will be the first offering of the Sabina Barn Theatre season. Acclaimed as Simon's best comedy, "God's Favorite" is filled with outrageously funny moments that will make the audience laugh as well as cry.

The New York Daily News wrote of "God's Favorite," it is "Awesomely funny. And rather sweet. And Healing. The work of a man of vision. It'll make you laugh out loud."

"God's Favorite" will be staged June 25 and 26 at 8:15 p.m. with a smorgasbord-buffet being offered in addition to the theatre on all Friday and Saturday night performances. A special Sunday afternoon matinee will be presented on Sunday, June 27 at 3 p.m.

Repeat performances will be presented on July 16 and 31 at 8:15 p.m. Ticket reservations and information may be obtained by calling the box office at 513-584-4410, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Sabina Barn Theatre, Sabina Campgrounds, P.O. Box 96, Sabina,

Ohio, 45169.

Box office hours are from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Tips on easy ways to rough it

NEW YORK (AP) — Dian Thomas was sitting cross-legged on the plush carpet of her 19th floor room in an elegant hotel here, frying bacon on the top of a tin can.

"What I really tried to do," she said, flipping the sizzling bacon, "was show people the methods of camping without spending a lot of money on equipment."

Miss Thomas was demonstrating one of the cooking techniques from her book, "Roughing It Easy: A Unique Idea Book for Camping and Cooking."

And the theme of that book is that with a little ingenuity it is possible to do sophisticated cooking on camping trips without spending a great deal of money on equipment.

The ingenious camper doesn't even need to buy a frying pan. Witness the hotel room bacon:

—A tuna fish can, filled with coiled cardboard and covered with melted wax was the source of heat. Put a match to it and it burns just like canned heat.

Ohio to hold clinics for stock producers

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Field days for state livestock producers are planned for late July and early August by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

The beef producers' day, July 31, and a similar one for sheep producers, Aug. 6, will be at the center's Caldwell facility. Dairyman's day, Aug. 13, will be in the Wooster headquarters.

New techniques for livestock production will be on display and under discussion.

—A one-gallon can was the stove. One lid had been removed, and a side was raised so that the burning tuna can could be slipped inside. The other lid was the cooking surface.

According to Miss Thomas, and "Roughing It Easy," the variations are nearly infinite.

She offers advice on how to bake, broil, roast, fry and boil food outdoors, and recipes for such exotic outdoor meals as strawberry upsidedown cake, sourdough bread and bacon and eggs cooked together in a brown paper bag.

The daughter of a forest ranger, Miss Thomas grew up in Utah, spending much of her time outdoors. After graduation from Brigham Young University in Salt Lake City, she accepted a home economics teaching position there.

"I thought, 'Now where should I begin?' and I decided I should teach first what I knew best, so I started with an outdoor cooking unit and the students loved it," she said.

When she left the teaching job briefly to take a master's degree in home economics, university officials asked her to write a manual so that other teachers could offer outdoor cooking while Miss Thomas was gone. From the manual came the book, which was published by the Brigham Young University Press.

Miss Thomas was in New York promoting a new paperback edition and boiling water in a paper cup in her hotel room.

She placed a cup filled with water on the burning waxed cardboard in the tuna can and - amazingly - the water boiled and the cup did not burn.

The book includes advice on digging latrines, selecting campsites, varieties of fires and their uses, packing planning, first aid and other camping basics.

About 80 per cent of the book is based on common camping practices, Miss Thomas says, and the other 20 per cent is the product of her own imagination-like frying bacon wrapped around a stick.

"I've found that if you make do with what you have, you'll have a lot more fun," she said.

They're not comparable

Disclosures and hints about the goath behavior of some members of Congress provide snappy reading. But any attempt to make it appear that the congressional sex scandal is tantamount to another Watergate must be rejected.

This observation is prompted by some partisan remarks from Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa uttered in his capacity as Republican platform chairman. We have not objection to partisan remarks; they are the very stuff of politics in an election year. We do think Ray's intimation that the escapades of a few aging congressional Don Juans can be equated with Watergate needs to be put into perspective.

Ray did not flatly make any such comparison. What he said about Watergate was: "Democrats today, with the scandals, certainly are not in a very good position to try to capitalize on it . . ." Still, there was an implication that currently revealed peccadilloes of Democratic congressmen would more or less cancel out references to the wrongdoing perpetrated by Nixon and Company.

That is simply nonsense. Even if one throws in the whole tawdry business of congressional high living at the taxpayers' expense, it is nonsense. The situation presently in the news involves individual sexual morality and misuse of public revenues for personal gratification and aggrandizement. We do not condone that. But is this in the same league with the abuses which finally led to Richard Nixon's resignation under threat of impeachment?

The answer, most decidedly, is no. Nixon and his henchmen engaged in a sustained pattern of activities aimed at undermining some of our country's most cherished principles. Watergate was far and away the worst public scandal in American history. It does not bear comparison with the congressional misconduct which is currently making headlines.

with the economy recovering from the recession, Ford should have had virtually all the cards in his hand. The blame, if it finally comes down to a Reagan nomination, can be parcelled out with plenty left over for anyone who may have been overlooked.

Realistic as he is about the prospects just ahead, Vice President Nelson Rockefeller can take a detached view of his own role in the events that have brought his party to the present pass. Last November in a letter to President Ford, he took himself out of consideration for the No. 2 place on the ticket to be chosen at Kansas City.

At a press conference a few days later he underscored his decision in an impressive fashion. As the howl of the conservatives grew louder and as then-Ford campaign director Howard (Bo) Calloway continued to harass him, there was the principal moderate of the party determined to make sure he was no embarrassment to his chief.

Since then Rockefeller has worked consistently and hard for the President's re-election. He has been one of the leading money raisers, speaking at fund-raising dinners across the country. At a strategic moment, just before the Ohio primary, he steered New York's hitherto uncommitted delegates to Ford with the likelihood that all but a scattering of perhaps 15 or 19 of the 154 delegates will vote for the President.

Next month Rockefeller will be 68. Fond of saying that he has served six Presidents, Republicans and Democrats alike, he was probably had more varied experience in government than anyone in Washington. For this experience to go unused — no matter what the outcome of the November election — would be a great loss.

Although they are so completely different in background and political outlook, Rockefeller and Sen. Hubert Humphrey have much in common at this moment as the old order changes. Each pursued the presidency across the years and the supreme irony is that each would have made a better President than the opponent who defeated them.

Rockefeller's nemesis was Richard Nixon, Humphrey's, the left of center of his party bent on the course that resulted in the disaster of 1972.

Unlike Rockefeller, Humphrey will continue to have a political base even as the old order changes. He will be reelected to the Senate and, as majority leader working with a Democratic President, he could perform invaluable service. This is a post, as Lyndon Johnson proved during his years in the Senate, almost as important as the presidency.

No antibiotic has ever been discovered to cure the presidential virus. Humphrey waited until the last minute for his renunciation scene. Not until the day after the three big primaries did he face the inevitable. That was not surprising, since he had come so close — those few thousand votes — to the prize in 1968.

The voters were seeking a new face in Jimmy Carter and a non-Washington face. If he had entered the race in time they might have switched to the new face of Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown. Brown, the late starter, is proving his political ineptitude by pushing for delegates after the nomination has been confirmed beyond a doubt. One can only assume that he, at 38, is looking to 1980.

In almost every primary Carter's wins were by a small percentage of the electorate. The novelty — and as people we take to novelties — of the Plains, Ga., peanut farmer is wearing thin. Carter's task in the fall will be to turn out a big vote on issues and not merely on the miracle of the unknown, the outsider, triumphing over the old pros.

Along with novelty, we tend to worship youth. Carter is 52. Adlai Stevenson III, believed most likely to be Carter's choice for Vice President, is 46. That would be a young ticket and an appealing ticket, especially if the opposition is Ronald Reagan, who is 65 years old.

We are launched on a journey into the unknown. The old hands around this town are scratching their heads and asking what Carter really stands for. They don't know and they are unlikely to find out until he settles into 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, if he does.

What historians have called the first traffic accident on record in Ohio took place Aug. 20, 1835, at Norwich in Muskingum County, when a stagecoach overturned on a steep winding road, killing Christopher C. Baldwin, librarian of the American Antiquarian Society of Worcester, Mass.

None of above is Libertarian pick

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "None of the above is acceptable," would be an option for voters to mark on election ballots if one minor party candidate for vice president has his way.

David Bergland, a 40-year-old Newport Beach, Calif., lawyer, is running second on a ticket with Roger L. McBride, the presidential candidate of the decidedly unconventional Libertarian party.

"Our major premise is that traditional politics is the enemy," Bergland said in an interview during an initial campaign swing through Ohio. "It has created a monster."

Bergland attempted unsuccessfully in a referendum drive to get a box on the California ballot for "none of the above" as a voter preference.

"It doesn't matter who wins, it's going to mean the same old thing," he says.

Who are the Libertarians and what do they want?

Simply stated, the party believes government is at its best when it governs least, or almost not at all.

The Libertarian credo calls for a fierce adherence to individual liberties, a free enterprise system not hampered by government regulation, neo-isolationism in foreign affairs and lifting of criminal penalties for "victimless crimes," such as prostitution. Many essential government services would be continued on a volunteer basis, the party believes.

Bergland claims the party's 10,000 or so members include refugees from the old "New Left," as well as from conservative movements.

But several party tenets appear to be conservative philosophy taken to its ultimate conclusion—particularly the antibureaucracy and freedom of the individual emphasis. Indeed, many members admit they were active in the 1964 presidential campaign of Barry Goldwater.

But Goldwater no longer fills the bill, Bergland says.

"There are many people of a libertarian orientation who think (Ronald) Reagan is the best of a bad lot," Bergland adds. He claims the former California governor's positions on foreign affairs—"he's a tremendous hawk"—and individual liberties are unacceptable.

Still Bergland concedes, the party will probably pick up some of his supporters if Regan fails to win the Republican nomination.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Moved by column to carry kidney card

DEAR ABBY: Today in your column I read a letter from Mrs. R.D. Watt of Bloomington, Ind., whose son, David, was killed in an auto accident. She said her son had carried a signed UNIFORM DONOR CARD issued by the Kidney Foundation stating his wishes to donate his kidneys at death, but because his wallet had not been thoroughly examined at the scene of the accident, and they (his parents) were too grief-stricken at the time to think of it, David's wishes were not carried out.

I want Mrs. Watt to know that after reading her letter I called the Kidney Foundation and requested a donor card so I could be like David Watt, who signed such a card in hopes of saving someone's life.

FEELING BETTER IN YORK, PA.

DEAR FEELING BETTER: Your thoughtful gesture will not only comfort David's parents; there is no telling how many others will be inspired to follow your generous example. Bless you.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I became engaged to a fine young man from Los Angeles. We planned a summer wedding. I was born on a farm in Iowa. My parents sold the farm and are now living in a retirement village near L.A.

My future in-laws are quite well-to-do and social. My fiancée's mother announced our engagement in two newspapers. I couldn't believe my eyes when I read that I was "the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. So and So and a graduate of the University of Iowa!"

When I asked my fiancée's mother why she did such a thing she said, "I couldn't very well have said you were a former waitress whose father had been a farmer!"

Abby, I'm not ashamed of being a former waitress OR a farmer's daughter. My parents saw the announcement and were humiliated. They think perhaps we should forego plans for a large wedding because his relatives and friends will be asking my father what kind of "doctor" he is and what I majored in in college.

I've always wanted a lovely wedding, but I hate to subject my parents to further humiliation. How can we handle this mess?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: What mess? Why give up the kind of wedding you want because your fiancée's mother is a liar and a snob? If questioned, tell the truth, and advise your parents to do the same. If there's any humiliation to be suffered, your future mother-in-law will be the one to suffer it.

DEAR ABBY: GRANDMA makes a good point when she criticizes young housewives for buying only TV dinners, frozen chicken pies and boxes of mixes.

My bride use to dish up similar food along with plenty of canned goods. One day I finally said to her, "Honey, why don't you make things from scratch like my mother use to?"

My dutiful wife high-tailed it down to the grocery store, walked up to the proprietor and asked, "Where do you keep the scratch?"

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, June 24th, the 176th day of 1976. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1948, the Communists began the Berlin blockade, halting Allied land traffic between the isolated city and West Germany.

On this date

In 1497, the first recorded discovery of the mainland of North America occurred as the explorer John Cabot sighted land between Halifax and southern Labrador.

In 1520, the Spanish conqueror of Mexico, Hernando Cortez, entered Mexico City.

In 1793, the first republican constitution in France was adopted.

In 1940, in World War II, the French government of Marshal Petain signed an armistice with Italy.

In 1942, the Dutch royal family, exiled by war, arrived in the United States to establish temporary residence.

In 1956, Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser was elected President of Egypt.

Ten years ago: The Senate passed a bill to require mandatory federal safety standards for all new cars.

Five years ago: A federal grand jury in Los Angeles opened an investigation into how the Pentagon papers were leaked to newspapers.

One year ago: An Eastern airlines jet crashed in flames at the edge of New York's Kennedy airport, killing 112 persons.

Today's birthdays: Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey is 81 years old. Golfer Billy Casper is 45.

Thought for today: The greatest happiness you can have is knowing that you do not necessarily require happiness — writer William Saroyan.

Bicentennial footnote: 200 years ago, Congress classified any resident of the Colonies who gave aid and comfort to the enemy as a traitor and it recommended that the individual Colonies enact laws to punish the guilty.

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, JUNE 25

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Keep on your toes now. A competitive factor of which you are unaware could be building up. Watch, too, for some tricky maneuvering.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Emotionalism or temperamentalism could get you into trouble if not careful. Self-control needed — especially in a romantic situation.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

You may gain a little here, lose a little there, but the overall picture is one of advancement. A strong Mercury day stimulates ingenuity, alert moves, quick thinking.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

A good day for launching new plans and projects. Of course, sensible precautions and complete understanding of your undertakings will be important.

Sinatra to wed Marx sister

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spokesman for Frank Sinatra says the singer has completed plans for his fourth wedding. Sinatra will marry longtime companion Barbara Marx on Oct. 10 at the Beverly Hills home of actor Kirk Douglas, Lee Solters said Tuesday. Sinatra was previously married to Nancy Barbato, Ava Gardner and Mia Farrow. The marriage will be the second for Mrs. Marx, the former wife of Zeppo Marx. Freeman Gosden, the original "Amos" of the "Amos and Andy" radio show, will be Sinatra's best man, Solters said.

Attic wall holds art treasures

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Ohio State University can put together $8,000 to $9,000 for new attic walls, a Connecticut man will give his old ones to the university. The university is considering the deal because it would be buying seven original and previously unknown sketches by the late humorist James Thurber, an OSU graduate. But Thurber studies Prof. Lewis Branscomb says his budget doesn't include appropriations for repairing attic walls. The drawings were found in the green frame Sandy Hook, Conn., home of Allen A. Coster who wants to give the cartoons to an organization. Thurber lived in the house between 1931 and 1934 with his first wife, Althea, an OSU beauty queen in the 1920s. Coster said he found the drawings a year and a half ago while exploring the wallpaper-covered attic which served as Thurber's studio, where he is believed to have written "My Life and Hard Times" and "The Seal in the Bedroom." Branscomb says he is sure the drawings are authentic because they show the simple style for which Thurber was famous. One depicts an aggressive looking woman shoving a flower at a reluctant, little man. The caption reads, "Rosemary—that's for Remembrance." Rosemary—Thurber was the humorist's only child. She was born in the Connecticut house.

TV Viewing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television viewers will have an opportunity in coming months to sample both the funny and the serious sides of entertainer Steve Allen.

Already airing in some cities is a syndicated series of 10 comedy specials which reunites Allen with some of the top comedians who worked on his TV shows over the past 20 years, including Don Knotts, Louis Nye, Bill Dana, Pat Harrington, Tim Conway and Gabe Dell.

Each program in this "LaughBack" series runs 90 minutes and features not only new comedy routines with Steve and his chums but also some classic sketches they did on his old shows. Allen resurrected most of the old black and white footage from his own files. Later this year, Allen's serious side will emerge in "Meeting of Minds," six one-hour programs that he wrote and appears in for the Public Broadcasting Service.

The format provides for discussion of current national and international issues by famous historical figures such as St. Thomas Aquinas, Cleopatra, Thomas Jefferson and President Theodore Roosevelt, based on their written and reported views. The PBS series will present a different foursome in each of the six installments, with Allen serving as moderator.

It's a series he has been nurturing for 16 years despite repeated rebuffs from the networks and other commercial broadcasters who said the idea was admirable but wouldn't draw much of an audience.

Projects of such diverse nature are hardly surprising from Allen, whose abundant creative talents also extend to dramatic acting, playing the piano and writing poetry, novels, plays and songs.

But he is best known as a TV funnyman and talk show host. Allen, in fact, was the first host of "The Tonight Show" on NBC, holding the job from 1953 to 1956. Unfortunately, none of the film from that period will be seen in the new "LaughBack" series.

Allen explained why during an interview in his San Fernando Valley office — "Someone at NBC, upon discovering a few years ago that the network was running short of space in its New Jersey storage warehouse, solved the problem by burning not only my three years of 'The Tonight Show' but just about all the films that NBC had produced from, I think, around 1949 to 1955."

Still, his numerous other shows over the years produced plenty of great routines from which to choose for "LaughBack." In one installment screened to preview the new series, in fact, the old material was funnier by far than the new.

Allen says these two recent forays into the familiar folds of television have done nothing to change his opinion of the medium.

"Economically it's very healthy," he observed. "Creatively it's probably about as bad or as good as it ever was, depending on one's requirements."

"I'm grateful that there are good shows on the air from time to time."

TO SALUTE OHIO'S WOMEN
"Women 76" will be the theme of the special Bicentennial Day for all Ohioans July 20 at Marshon Auditorium, The Ohio State University.

Sponsored by the Ohio Extension Homemakers Council, this special day is being planned to recognize Women and the contribution which they continually make to Ohio.

The keynote speaker, Dr. Betty Siegel, will speak on "The Three Faces of Eve" which surveys the three goals of a woman's life: a self to live with, a purpose to live for and a faith to live by.

Dr. Siegel, Dean of Academic Affairs for continuing Education, University of Florida, specializes in child and adolescent psychology. She has written many articles, served on many professional committees, is listed in Who's Who in American Education, World's Who's Who of Women; and Leaders in Education; has written two books and serves as a consultant on the topics of Early Childhood, The Middle School Child, Humanizing Education, the Economically Disadvantaged Child, the Aged and Continuing Education.

In the afternoon, Mr. Thomas Wetzell II, Director of Public Relations and Development, the Salvation Army of Greater Cleveland will deliver a talk entitled "Silent Eyes" for which he received the George Washington Medal of Honor.

Another highlight of the afternoon program will be the recognition of five Ohio Women who have contributed greatly to their individual fields of endeavor. Those to be recognized are Gertrude Donahey, Treasurer of Ohio; Mrs. Ellen Walker Craig, Mayor of Urbancrest, Ohio; Marion Renick, Editor of "My Weekly Reader" Columbus, Ohio; Dorothy D. Dennison, artist from Youngstown and Judge Olive Holmes, Common Pleas Court, Hamilton County, Juvenile Division.

The "Sweet Adelines" of the Columbus Area will provide special music and the Bicentennial Film "A Change of Worlds" will be presented during a divided lunch period.

Pre-registration is necessary at the Fayette County Extension Office by July 1. Registration blanks may be picked up week-days between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. The office is located at 319 South Fayette Street, Washington C.H. Registration cost will be $4.50 which includes the cost of lunch at The Ohio Union on campus.

PRESSURE CANNER CHECK JULY 8 and 15

Do you have a pressure canner? How long has it been since you had it checked for accurate pressure? If it has been two years or more call now for an appointment on July 8 or July 15.

The only exception to this check-up is the "dead-weight" regulator used on some canners. These weights "bobble" and release steam to maintain 5, 10 or 15 pounds of pressure. These weights are supposed to remain accurate. Check all parts, sealing edges, and the general condition of the pressure canner or pressure saucepan. Follow the directions given in the manufacturer's instruction book.

If the canner has a rubber gasket, has it been turned? If the gasket is cracked or hard, replace it.

Is the closure tight? Are sealing edges clean? If movable or removable parts show wear, replace them.

Is the vent for exhausting steam shiny clean and free of deposits?

Can you identify the safety plug? It is usually a composition disc or a metal alloy plug which will melt under too high pressure. Either type should be replaced if it is not in good condition.

Give the canner a thorough cleaning. Use a fine cleansing powder such as whiting, (available at drug store) to remove accumulated deposits. Scour the jar rack and dry it carefully. Pull a string or fine bit of cloth through vents and other small openings to clean them.

When you come for your appointment please bring your entire canner and rack so we can check all the parts if needed. Your instruction book is helpful, but not necessary.

We have purchased a special tester so that checking your canner pressure gauge will only take about 10 minutes of your time. A few models, however, must still be tested with a thermometer on top of the range. This method requires about one hour. These may be left for testing and picked up later.

CANNING UP-DATE

On July 8 and July 15 from 10:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. at the Extension Office I hope to answer many of your questions in advance on the proper methods of canning green beans and tomatoes through a short slide presentation and discussion. Use this opportunity to learn the latest techniques in a hurry.

EPA mandate to cost city $6,000 per year

An Ohio Environmental Protection Agency mandate will cost the city an estimated $6,000 per year while offering no benefit whatsoever to Washington C.H. residents.

The EPA has requested that the city analyze samples and report on oils, greases, human waste and chemicals in the sewer treatment plant discharge and in Paint Creek.

Failure to comply with the request can result in fines up to $10,000, city council members learned Wednesday night.

Even though the present treatment plant has no facilities to make such tests and a new plant will be in operation within a few years, the EPA is requiring the tests immediately.

Orville Dixon, superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, said the only reasonable course of action for the city was to take the required samples and then send them to an independent laboratory for analysis.

He estimated the cost of a contract of analysis of the samples would cost $500 per month. Samples must be taken from Paint Creek upstream of the plant once each week, three times per week from the plant discharge, and once per week from the creek downstream of the plant.

The tests simply provide the EPA with statistical data and will do nothing to improve the quality of air or water around the plant.

ELECTION certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown from the Fayette County primary ballot were discussed by City Manager George H. Shapter.

He said he was gratified that all three property tax levies were approved by the voters, but warned that no money will be received until 1977.

The city manager also noted that the Fayette County Board of Elections has been notified that petitions seeking repeal of the city income tax and abandonment of the council-manager form of government are now being circulated in Washington C.H.

Notification was filed by Leah Nash, Richard and Joanne Allen, all residing at 401 E. Elm Street.

DRIVEWAY WIDTHS

The ordinance allowing City Council to grant exceptions to the standard driveway widths became effective immediately after passage as an emergency last week. However, the oil company whose request had prompted the legislation has still not been granted relief.

The ordinance requires that anyone proposing to construct driveways in excess of 25 feet wide receive formal approval from Council. A resolution granting such approval for the company was not presented at Wednesday's meeting. Council chairman Joseph O'Brien said he had left it at home.

The firm needs the exemption to cut driveways at a service station under construction at Cedar and Elm Streets.

STREET SALE HALTED

A proposed "truckload sale" conceived by Holthouse Furniture Co., 120 W. Court St., has been prohibited.

The furniture retailer had requested permission to "rent" three parking spaces in front of the store and sell furniture directly from the truck.

Council said state law prohibits sales from state highways, and the city could not endorse such action anyway.

Shapter said if the firm was allowed such sales, there would be nothing to prohibit another furniture company from pulling a truck in front of the store and selling in competition with the local firm.

SIDEWALKS REQUIRED

Four property owners with homes on Kathryn Court in the Storybrook Addition will be required to install sidewalks. City regulations state that sidewalks are to be installed in all subdivisions before homes are occupied, but this rule had not been enforced when the homes were constructed.

The present homeowners will be directed to comply as soon as possible.

In an effort to see that this situation does not reoccur, Shapter is drafting an agreement to be signed by all developers stating that they will be responsible for sidewalks. It would require a performance bond to insure that they are installed.

He suggests that the signing of such an agreement be a prerequisite for final approval of all subdivision plats.

STOP SIGN REQUEST

In response to a request for replacement of a stop sign on Nelson Place, the city manager noted that Ohio Law outlines criteria under which a such sign can be installed.

He noted that use of stop signs for speed control along streets is strictly prohibited. Whether or not the location in question meets the criteria for installation will be examined, he said.

STREET CLOSING

The Fayette County Ministerial Association requested closing Main

Street from Court to Market Street for an hour July 4.

The association is presenting an outdoor worship service from 11 a.m. to noon on the west lawn of the Courthouse.

MEETING PLACE

Although it was suggested that more suitable accommodations be sought for City Council meetings, members seemed reasonably satisfied with the Fraternal Order of Police building on N. Fayette Street, at least for the summer.

The building is extremely warm, but Council seemed willing to endure the heat. Members said another location should definitely be sought for the winter. They said a noisy furnace and blower would make it difficult to hear during the cold months.

At City Council meeting

Hazardous construction site, soliciting in city discussed

Hazardous conditions at a construction site and soliciting in the city were discussed Wednesday night by Washington C.H. City Council.

During the call to voters and taxpayers, Chester F. Hamulak, 1028 Center St., addressed the hazard of exposed gasoline storage tanks at the corner of Cedar and Elm streets.

A service station is being constructed at the site, and Hamulak said four storage tanks were accessible to youth. He said the tanks were filled with 36,000 gallons of gasoline, presenting a serious fire hazard.

Glenn Tatman, city inspector, said the firm had been contacted about the situation. It will cover the in-ground tanks with three feet of gravel, Tatman said.

Mrs. Joanne Allen, 401 E. Elm St., brought several topics to the attention of Council and requested a great deal of information from city solicitor Gary D. Smith.

First, she noted that, in her opinion, the local news media had been delinquent for not making the public aware that 24-hour written notice was not required before addressing Council. She said she felt most residents thought prior notice was still necessary.

Mrs. Allen then asked what difference there was between one merchant selling at curbside and many merchants holding sidewalk sales during Old Fashioned Bargain Days. Council chairman Joe O'Brien said there was a difference between an organized community sales promotion and an individual merchant. He added that the merchant's immediate request was for sale from the street, not the sidewalk.

The discussion referred to a request from Holthouse furniture for sales from a truck which had been denied by Council.

Told by City Manager George H. Shapter that her recent solicitation for contributions to the Citizens Defense Fund failed to comply with city codes, Mrs. Allen sought further explanation. She asked whether the city code barred requests for merchandise or merely prohibited request for money.

She also asked whether or not signs announcing prohibition of soliciting must be posted at the city limits, and she asked if the restrictions prohibited individuals from seeking donations for flowers for deceased neighbors.

Most of the questions were referred to the city solicitor for investigation. O'Brien said Mrs. Allen was getting "too technical" in her question about donations for flowers. He said he had recently done so himself, and if this was prohibited by ordinance, he would pay the required fine.

She also asked if a license was necessary to circulate petitions for the November general election. She was informed that no license was required for this purpose.

THE CALL to Council brought discussion of vacancies on the police department and the street lighting situation.

Council member Billie Wilson asked whether or not an examination for police candidates had been scheduled. The city manager said they had not.

Shapter said one police dispatcher was already qualified to assume a patrolman's post, but he had not yet been appointed.

The city manager explained that promotion of the dispatcher who is paid by a federal (CETA) grant would have to be paid from city funds if promoted. The city could not fill the dispatcher's position with federal funds because a freeze on CETA hirings has been initiated.

Moving the dispatcher would cost the city some $5,000 this year, he warned. He added that money allocated for the patrolman's salary was being used to pay other officers overtime.

Council member Eddie Fisher made a motion that the street lights be restored immediately using money borrowed against 1977 lighting revenue. The motion was defeated by a 3-2 margin. Wilson also voted in favor of restoring the lights, but Ralph Cook, O'Brien and John Morris were opposed.

Cook noted that he may well favor the move after he has obtained a firm figure on what the street lighting millage will generate annually. This figure is not yet available from the county auditor.

Council members Mrs. Bertha McCullough and James Ward were absent from the meeting.

SIX ORDINANCES were presented before Council. An ordinance regulating parking on private property was approved for its third reading.

It states that persons who own or lease private parking areas may call city police when unauthorized vehicles are in their space. The police are now authorized to issue citations for such parking violations.

Four ordinances were placed on second readings. They were:

—An ordinance to amend a portion of the city income tax. The amendment sets penalties for firms which fail to collect or remit employee income tax.

—An ordinance to vacate unused land allotted for extensions of Wilson and Campbell streets.

—An ordinance regulating use of the municipal waste water system.

—An ordinance outlining licensing procedures for plumbers who wish to tap the city sewer system.

APPROPRIATIONS for the remainder of 1976 from the general fund were presented in an ordinance which was placed on the first reading.

Although the city manager had planned to seek immediate passage as an emergency with a suspension of the three-reading requirement, this was not possible with two members of Council absent.

Another ordinance to authorize continued work on the city traffic signal project was tabled.

Harrises take dual roles as jury selection begins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris took center stage at their trial in dual roles as defendants and lawyers, won warm comments from some prospective jurors and got mixed reviews from the judge.

After quarreling Wednesday with Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler, the two Symbionese Liberation Army members adopted a conciliatory demeanor. A defense lawyer called it "a spirit of detente."

Then the Harrises, charged with kidnapping, robbery and assault, stood separately to question the citizens who may become their jury. In three days of questioning, no jurors have been seated.

"Does the fact that I am representing myself in these proceedings cause any of you to feel uneasy?" asked the 31-year-old Harris.

All 12 prospects seated in the jury box of the bulletproof courtroom shook their heads to indicate no.

"I think it speaks well of you that you know your own mind," said 24-year-old Donald Chavez.

Another prospect, Barbara Oldham, said, "I don't know if I'd want to be my own attorney. But I'd want to input on any decision that affects my life."

Emily Harris, 29, calm and soft-spoken, also questioned prospective jurors. Twice, with panelists absent, she won praise from Brandler for her legal phrasing.

"The suggested question of Mrs. Harris is the better form than the one posed by Mr. Weinglass," the judge declared. Leonard Weinglass, Mrs. Harris' noted counsel, grinned.

The slender Mrs. Harris was pale from eight months in jail but smiled often as she stood at a lectern.

"Would any of you feel any prejudice or hostility based on the fact that I am a woman charged with these offenses?" she asked.

The eight men and four women shook their heads again.

Earlier, Harris had raged over a change in the schedule proposed by the judge and a late-arriving attorney.

"We're here at 10 after eight. We sit chained to our chairs. So don't give me that s---, godyou," Harris shouted at Brandler, who threatened to evict him from court.

Truck, trash fires checked

A fire in a pickup truck and a trash burning were investigated Wednesday by Washington C.H. firemen.

Firemen reported that a fire in a pickup truck belonging to Pearl Bennett, 723 Paint St., occurred at 7:27 p.m. Wednesday when Bennett reportedly poured fuel into the carburetor, and the engine backfired upon ignition.

The fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived. Damage to the truck was estimated at $50.

A trash fire on the Marson Davy residence, 1114 Gregg St., was reported to firemen at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday. Davy had extinguished the fire by the time they arrived, firemen said.

'We're moving' president says

Area growth noted at Chamber dinner

Growth of the Washington C.H. area over the past five years was noted at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce's 15th annual meeting and banquet held Wednesday night in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

James F. Ward, outgoing Chamber of Commerce president, told the more than 200 persons in attendance that industrial growth in the Washington C.H. area has increased 57 per cent, while retail growth has risen 54 per cent.

"We're moving and that's a fact," Ward said.

Perhaps the largest period of expansion was in 1975 when nearly $20 million in business and industrial growth added at least 14 new restaurants and shopping stores to the community.

Ward, manager of the French Hardware Store in Washington C.H., also said that the Chamber of Commerce is growing as it now has a total of 440 members, an increase over last year.

"Not everything I had planned happened," Ward said in pointing out that the Chamber year began July 1 and on Sept. 1 the organization's executive vice president resigned.

He applauded the work of Richard F. Kilian, who was employed Dec. 1 as the Chamber's executive vice president.

Glenn R. Hemsworth, who succeeds Ward as president of the Chamber of Commerce, was unable to attend the meeting because of a corporate business meeting in Columbus.

Other new officers for the 1976-1977 year introduced were John Lachat, first vice president; James Polk, second vice president; and Ronald Warner, treasurer.

Directors are William Autrey, Dale Willis, Hugh Wilson, Harold Thompson, Willis Geyer, Bill Mathison, Ora Burdge, Ms. Shirley Fenner, Edwin M. Nestor, Don Kirk, Rick Stinson, George Arnold, Don Bailey and Larry Lehman.

Retiring directors recognized were Jack Brennan, Paul Johnson and John Rhoad, whose three-year terms expired, and John Gruber, John H. Roszmann and David Ogan, who were one-year appointees.

A "golden age president's group" established this year was recognized by Ward.

Past presidents in the "golden age" group (with years served in parentheses) recognized were Fred Rost (1941-1942), Alfred Weatherly (1949-1950), Joseph Peters (1950-1951 and 1951-1952), Robert Terhune (1954-1955), Charles Reinke (1955-1956), Walter Morrow (1957-1958 and 1958-1959) and Walter F. Rettig (1959-1960).

Lachat served as master of ceremonies and introduced guests and the featured speaker, and the Rev. Dr. Leroy Davis, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, delivered the benediction.

New manager named at Kroger Co. store

Walter Dryden, vice president of the Kroger Co. Columbus marketing area, has announced the assignment of a new manager for the Kroger Co. store on Clinton Avenue.

David Amstutz, of 741 Dayton Ave., has assumed the position of manager at the local store. He replaces Charles R. Edwards, 1067 Spring Lake Road.

Completing his management trainee program in July of 1969, Amstutz soon became a co-manager, Dryden stated. Amstutz came to Washington C.H. after serving as a store manager of a Kroger Co. store in Wheelersburg.

Previous to the co-manager's position, he had served with three Kroger stores in Columbus, and one in Lancaster.

The 29-year-old Amstutz, who says he is particularly impressed with the rich farmland of Fayette County. His hobbies include bowling, hunting, and fishing.

Amstutz and his wife, Luana, have two sons, Matt, 7, and Brad, 6.

Welfare gardens set aside in Ohio

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ten acres of Summit County have been set aside for welfare recipients whose general relief payments recently have been discontinued. County commissioners hope the land will be used for food gardens.

The commissioners discontinued the payments last month to about 4,000 persons because of lack of funds. A county judge upheld the decision over a challenge by a group seeking to continue the payments.

The land being offered by the county is around the former county home for the poor.

"I'll even get out and help them farm it," said commissioner Don M. Stephens. "My own personal garden grows more than I can use. I'll make sure it goes to somebody."

Most of the 440 acres of the county home land is leased to farmers, is used

The Black Laws of Ohio were repealed by the 1848-1849 session of the Legislature. The laws prohibited settlement of blacks unless they could show a certificate of their freedom and provide freeholders to give security for their good behavior. The laws excluded blacks from the common schools, and prohibited blacks from being sworn or allowed to give testimony in any court in any case where a white person was concerned. The repeal legislation provided schools for black children.

One of the representatives of the group that fought the halt in financial aid, Dale Miller, said he was sure he could "get some assistance in plowing the land, turning the soil and planting the seed."

"Our greatest need will be for seeds and plants," Miller said, keeping in mind the latest of the season for starting a garden from scratch.

"The biggest problem with these people," Miller added, "is that they are primarily city folks."

By none other than Uncle Sam

Paul Revere to be married July 4

KINGS MILLS, Ohio — One of the most unusual bicentennial celebrations in America on July 4th will take place at Kings Island family entertainment center when Paul Revere is married to Sandra Campbell in front of the American Heritage Music Hall, by none other than Uncle Sam.

Revere, leader of the 16 year-old musical group, Paul Revere and The Raiders, said he met Miss Campbell on July 4, 1971 in Las Vegas when she was a contestant for the "Miss Nevada" title.

"That's why we chose the date for our wedding", he explained. "When Kings Island asked the band to play two concerts on July 4 this year, I agreed, on the condition that Sandy and I could also be married there."

The Rev. Gene Skipworth, pastor of the Forest Park United Methodist Church in Cincinnati will perform the ceremony in an authentic Uncle Sam outfit.

Revere, (and that's his real name), will be authentically costumed in an early American tuxedo, while Miss Campbell will wear a period gown that was worn by Raquel Welch in the movie, "The Three Musketeers."

Members of the band will be dressed in their American Revolutionary uniforms, a trademark since the group's inception in 1960.

Miss Campbell formerly resided in Lebanon, Ohio, a historical town 10 miles from Kings Island. Members of her family still live in the area and will be present at the wedding.

Revere and his fiancée share the same birthday, January 7, and both formerly operated beauty salons.

The Raiders were the first rock group to be signed with Columbia Records. They have sold nearly 50 million records in the past 16 years.

In the summer of 1971 the Raiders' recording of "Indian Reservation" sold nearly three million singles, making it the biggest selling record for Columbia in 10 years.

The group has also done numerous television shows, including an ABC-TV series, "Happening '68" and "Happening '69".

The concerts at Kings Island on July 4 will take place in the industrial picnic grove at 5 and 8 p.m. The wedding is scheduled for 1 p.m.

He is one of the 20,000 Navymen taking part in the Navy's formal Bicentennial commemoration of our nation's Maritime heritage. The Review will include a total of 50 ships representing more than 30 countries.

This is the fourth International Naval Review sponsored by the U.S.; the last was conducted in 1957 in Hampton Roads, Va. His destroyer will join 21 other U.S. ships taking part in the Review. This task force is composed of ships from the Atlantic Fleet and led by Vice Admiral John J. Shanahan, commander of the U.S. Second Fleet. Its participation in the Review is one of the most significant events of an ongoing fleet exercise titled "Operation 200."

"Operation 200", a seven-week exercise, includes fleet maneuvers and missile flights. In addition, three will be amphibious operations, plus naval gunfire support and anti-submarine warfare training. Many of the "Operation 200" ships will have Midshipmen from the U.S. Naval Academy and Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) Units embarked. The Midshipmen are undergoing summer training to learn shipboard routines and gain practical experience in seamanship, navigation, gunnery, and communications.

A 1973 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School, he joined the Navy in December 1973. His ship is homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Cope with crisis by anticipating nature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An upcoming crisis can't be foretold but its nature should be anticipated, advises former social worker Juanita Furuta.

That advice is her formula for coping with troubles when they arise.

"Regardless of lifestyle, economic or social status, there are certain problems we all face. You can mentally prepare yourself so knowing what to do is an automatic response," she says.

Mrs. Furuta recently conducted a crisis anticipation workshop and offered these steps in preparing for unforeseen troubles:

—Tell yourself you eventually will have to deal with a crisis—the death of a loved one, job loss, terminal illness or injury.

—Tell yourself before trouble happens that you can cope. Prepare yourself not to fall apart. "You tuck these things away in the back of your mind and when something happens, they come to you and you're able to put them to use," Mrs. Furuta says.

—Especially useful in crisis times are the multitude of social agencies available to help those caught in an insoluble jam.

She explains thousands of dollars are dumped into these community agencies, but their potential services are underused.

Mrs. Furuta, an Ohio State University graduate who worked for a Franklin County crisis intervention agency, offers this personal story of a crisis and how preparation helped her handle it.

On a Texas ranch a horse kicked her young son in the face. She says she didn't panic. She simply notified her husband and a local hospital and rushed the child there for emergency treatment.

"After it was over, I was physically and emotionally exhausted," she recalls, "but I knew exactly what to do at the time."

New home prices down $2,000

NEW YORK (AP) — In case you missed the original announcement, it should be recorded that in May the average purchase price of a new single-family home fell to $46,300, a drop of $2,200 from the record-high price a month earlier.

It is understandable that you might believe those figures to be the result of a typographical gremlin, but they are not. It is possible too that they are another of those well-known statistical flukes, but maybe not.

The fact is that there are some solid reasons why the prices of some new homes might have dropped. Some are smaller editions, many are minus the refinements of a year ago. And some sellers have been having problems.

This latter cannot be ignored; if you think you've had troubles in buying a house your local builder can reduce you to tears with his frustrations in trying to sell a house, even at a minuscule profit.

So what do we deduce from this latest news? That it pays to wait? If you so conclude you are battling the odds. You might very well find yourself in the same trap that snared many young homeowners of the 1960s, who were convinced that housing prices would stabilize.

Well, they did, for a while. But while housing prices were stable, and only briefly, interest rates rose. And they rose and rose, fully 50 per cent in 10 years. And they were still rising, as of May.

Housing prices weren't stable for long either. They too rose and rose, doubling in about 10 years and leaving those who waited holding in their first a down payment that grew less and less adequate.

Although nobody can say the next 10 years will be a repetition of the past 10, and despite the recent good news, the trend is still upward for both purchase price and financing. What happened in May isn't likely to be repeated.

Price for land, materials and labor are ascending. Many areas are imposing costly building limitations in order to preserve the purity of their water. Operating costs are rising too. Will there be a technological breakthrough that might lower costs? Attempts so far have yet to prove themselves as permanent or broadly acceptable, and many have failed.

Remember the factory house? It's still being produced and the quality is good. But mass production hasn't really caught on; the industry is still largely one of small stick builders operating locally.

The no-frill house? Promising. But some builders maintain they really can't produce a quality house by stripping away distinctive features and then manage to sell at a profit. Still, it continues to offer limited hope.

Mobile homes? Possibilities. But shipments of these units, which had surged to one-half million units several years ago are now back to one-half that, although rising again. Bears watching.

Kissinger peddles majority rule view

GRAFENAU, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger completed two days of talks on U.S. support for majority rule in southern Africa with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa today with no announced concrete results.

"The prime minister on his part will give further thought to what was discussed in these two days and the secretary of state will report to the President," Robert L. Funseth, the U.S. spokesman, told reporters.

"They will keep in touch and follow up on these matters."

Kissinger and Vorster were alone for an hour and a half in Kissinger's hotel here in the rolling Bavarian countryside. They then were joined for another hour by members of their delegations, including South African Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller and William E. Schaefele Jr., the U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Kissinger has said he is seeking a way with Vorster to avoid a "racial war" in southern Africa. This involves pressing for negotiations for a black takeover in Rhodesia, supporting self-determination in the territory of South-West Africa, or Namibia, and, evidently, urging Vorster to move toward majority rule in his own country.

Kissinger said after their first four-hour meeting Wednesday that he and Vorster had a "very full review of the situation in southern Africa," and "we indicated the direction which we think things should move."

"Obviously, no conclusions could be reached," Kissinger said.

There was no comment from Vorster.

Kissinger is trying to get Vorster to steer Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith into new talks with Rhodesian black nationalist leaders. He emphasized that the United States is not backing away from its support for a negotiated settlement.

The first state fair was held in Cincinnati Sept. 11-13, 1850.

Ford calls for busing limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, asking Congress to restrict busing as a means of desegregating public schools, is expected to urge legislation that would limit the duration of busing programs and narrow the cases where courts can order busing.

As part of his plan, the President today is expected to ask Congress to declare that judges can order busing only to correct segregation caused by official governmental action, such as the work of a school board.

White House officials said the measure will stress the difference between segregation caused by acts of government officials and segregation caused by other reasons such as neighborhood housing patterns.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi indicated last week that the bill might also seek a time limit of three years for such busing.

After that time, if busing is still deemed to be necessary, it could be continued for two more years. After five years, the busing could be halted if it were determined the community made a good faith effort to achieve desegregation.

Busing has become an emotional issue in this campaign year, and Ford promised in a speech in Indianapolis on Tuesday that his bill would limit "the massive busing of our school children."

He said then that the measure "will minimize court-ordered busing and will provide a means and method to help local authorities in trying to handle the problem at the local level."

The President declared that some federal courts have intruded so far into the busing controversy "that they are practically running our school boards."

Civil rights leaders have attacked Ford's intention to restrict busing, saying his plan would only encourage people to violate the law.

The House Republican leader, John Rhodes of Arizona, said Wednesday after a White House briefing that "this bill will tend to quiet dissension rather than cause more."

U.S. attacked for veto use

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States came under heavy attack from Third World and Communist nations Wednesday night for vetoing Angola's application for membership in the United Nations.

The United States cast its 15th veto in the Security Council to kill a resolution recommending that the former Portuguese African colony become the 145th member of the world organization.

The council vote was 13-1. China did not participate, saying it is "firmly against providing the Soviet Union a pretext to prolong its interference" in Angola.

U.S. Ambassador Albert W. Sherer Jr. told the council the United States opposed Angola's entry because of the "continuing presence and apparent influence" of the estimated 12,000 to 15,000 Cuban troops in the former Portuguese colony.

"There is no justification for such a large armed foreign presence in a truly independent African state," he said.

However, it was generally understood that the United States vetoed the application because President Ford did not want to give Ronald Reagan more ammunition to use in their fight for the Republican presidential nomination. Sherer in effect confirmed this when he said his government would have acted differently had the Angolans heeded U.S. urging to delay their application until "a more propitious time." U.S. delegates had pressed the Marxist Angolan government to postpone its membership request until after the Republican convention in mid-August.

A string of Third World and Communist representatives took the floor after the vote to denounce the U.S. action.

Ambassador Salim A. Salim of Tanzania, who tried to work out a compromise, asserted that the veto was "politically unjust, legally untenable and morally unsound."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik, whose government has used the veto 110 times, often to block admission of new members, termed the U.S. vote "the most flagrant misuse of the veto power."

Richard Alarcon de Quesada of Cuba accused the United States of hypocrisy in protesting the Cuban presence in Angola while U.S. troops "roam around the world from the Caribbean to the Pacific, from the Far East to Western Europe."

The Cuban troops, he said, will remain in Angola until the Angolan army is organized, equipped and trained to defend the country, "not a day more and not a day less."

Fighting continues in Lebanon

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security officials and hospitals reported the Lebanese civil war's heaviest 24-hour casualty toll in weeks as Palestinian guerrillas and their leftist Lebanese allies claimed they drove back four major Christian tank assaults in eastern Beirut.

Nearly 140 dead and hundreds of wounded were reported Wednesday night. The Palestinians said it was "one of the heaviest battles of the war."

The combined Palestinian-Lebanese command said 5,000 Christian militiamen with more than 100 tanks and armored cars attacked the hilltop Palestinian refugee camps of Tal Zaatar and Jisr el-Basha.

They are the last major Palestinian positions between Christian-held eastern Beirut and the Christian coastal enclave north of the city.

The Christians claimed the Palestinians, not they, were the aggressors. "We are taking necessary retaliatory measures," they said.

The two camps overlook several major roads out of eastern Beirut. Despite the hard fighting on the eastern side of the city, Syrian and Libyan troops assigned to the new Arab League peace-keeping force reopened the Beirut airport south of the city Wednesday, and Lebanon's Middle East Airlines said it would resume regular flights in and out of the country today.

One of the line's jetliners landed Wednesday with 10 passengers aboard and took off half an hour later with 20 passengers. It was the first plane to land since June 6, when Syrian invasion troops and guerrillas of the Syrian-controlled Saika Palestinian organization closed the airport.

The Syrian troops who invaded Lebanon on June 1 to prevent a Palestinian-leftist victory were reported beginning to withdraw from the Beirut and Sidon areas back into eastern Lebanon. A spokesman for the Lebanese Arab Army, made up of Moslem deserters from the Lebanese army, said the withdrawal would be completed by Friday.

But the Palestinian-Lebanese

command was suspicious since most of the 1,000 peace-keeping troops that arrived Monday were Syrians. Mahmoud Riad, the secretary-general of the Arab League, said he had asked for a Sudanese contingent to be sent to Beirut. Local newspaper reports said Somali and Saudi Arabian troops were on the way.

The prime ministers of Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait met in Riyadh, the Saudi capital, to try to mend the rift between Egypt and Syria and to seek a solution to the Lebanese civil war, the Saudi state radio reported.

Parades, protests, Frisbee flinging part of 200th hoopla

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

Only in America would they celebrate the national Bicentennial with a day-long protest rally and concert, the biggest fireworks, the longest parade and 200 people flinging Frisbees off a hill.

And that's only a small part of the program for this Fourth of July when the United States turns 200 years old. There's also greased pig chasing, bell ringing, pow wows, a 1,776-yard footrace and a 400,000-slice birthday cake.

Since there is no world's fair, like the one they had in 1876, and no national focus for the celebration, local folks across the land have come up with ideas of their own. Some must have the founding fathers giggling in their graves.

There will be properly solemn official ceremonies, of course, beginning with prayer services in Washington and other cities, and centering around a commemorative program in Philadelphia where the Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776.

The activities of national interest begin July 2, the 200th anniversary of the day the Continental Congress actually voted independence from Britain for the 13 American colonies.

President Ford will go to the National Archives that evening to view the Declaration and deliver a speech.

The festivities begin July 3 with the American Bicentennial Grand Parade down Washington's Constitution Avenue, led by Vice President and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller. In the evening the President will attend an "Honor America" entertainment salute to America at the Kennedy Center.

Bicentennial Sunday will dawn on sunrise religious services at the Lincoln Memorial sponsored by the downtown churches of Washington. President Ford will begin his busy schedule by attending services at an area church.

From Washington, Ford will fly to Valley Forge, Pa., where he will join activities which include the encampment of 100 covered wagons which have crossed the country in the Bicentennial Wagon Train Pilgrimage. He also is expected to sign legislation making Valley Forge a national park.

The President also will attend the National Bicentennial Program at Independence Hall in Philadelphia which will include a reading of the Declaration and the usual patriotic speeches.

Actor Charlton Heston is expected to be master of ceremonies and Frank Sinatra to sing the national anthem. Then one of the major parades of the day follows the ceremonies, running for six or seven hours.

In midafternoon Ford will have moved on to New York where he will view more than 200 sailing vessels, including nearly all of the world's few remaining tall-masted ships, parading up the Hudson River.

In Boston, first city of the Revolution, they'll be doing it the way they have every year since 1782 with a parade, flag raising and reading of the Declaration.

Meanwhile, back in Washington, a program of music, speeches and fireworks will run from daybreak to midnight on the capital's Mall area, featuring big name entertainers and politicians.

At 8 a.m., following the sunrise service, there will be a second interfaith religious program, this one at the Jefferson Memorial.

Then the Peoples Bicentennial Commission, a leftist group which has been protesting official plans for celebrating the occasion, will begin a march in support of "A Declaration of Independence from Big Business."

The PBC will follow its march with a rally on the Mall featuring Jane Fonda and Dr. Benjamin Spock. But this will shortly evolve into an all-day celebrity appearance and entertainment extravaganza spotlighting singers Don McLean, Peter Yaro of the former Peter, Paul and Mary group, John Stewart, formerly of the Kingston Trio, and various rock performers.

At the same time, on another quarter of the Mall, the annual Festival of America folklife will be in full swing to the tune of fiddle music and tom toms.

And sometime during the day, the Centennial Safe, a sort of time capsule sealed in 1876, will be opened at the Capitol. Congress also planned to serve punch and cookies to the public during the afternoon on the East Front steps of the Capitol.

At 2 p.m., supposedly the exact moment the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia announced the Declaration of Independence, the bell will be tolled again and answered by simultaneous ringing of bells all across America.

Also going on across America will be local celebrations including that 1,776-yard race at a high school in Alexandria, Va., George Washington's home town.

Up in Sitka, Alaska, they'll have their own July 4th parade along with the tree-felling, topping, climbing, log rolling, axe throwing championships and square dancing.

And in Seward, Alaska, the 4th will be celebrated with a foot race 3,000 feet up Shale Mountain, around a flag pole on the top and back to town.

Across the continent they'll be raising Liberty poles in Milford, Conn., and Derry, N.H., where celebrants also will roast an ox.

In Ada, Okla., they'll chase greased pigs at the all-day picnic. There's a hog-calling contest in New Philadelphia, Ohio, a horse race down Main Street in Lexington, Ky., and a Pony Express ride from Sacramento, Calif., to the Nevada state line.

Biloxi, Miss., will have hot air balloon races and Hanibal, Mo., its Mark Twain Days, with raft races, fence painting and frog jumping. And Cairo, Ga., will hold the Grady County Marbles competition.

New Orleans, of course, will feature jazz all day on the 4th after a Mardi Gras-style parade which begins on the 3rd and ends up after midnight in the Superdome.

Not to be outdone by the mainlanders, American Samoa will include copra-cutting and spear-throwing contests with the usual parades and speeches.

Cincy police chief trial sent to jury

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — The case against suspended Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin and two other police officers is scheduled to go to the jury today after the final day of testimony included two city officials questioning the chief's honesty.

The Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury Wednesday heard Deputy City Manager Henry Sandman and Safety Director Richard Castellini both question the honesty and truthfulness of Goodin, on trial for perjury and tampering with evidence.

Goodin was the focal point during the final day of often-interrupted testimony in the trial, which is in its second week. The police chief is accused along with Lt. Richard Beyer, charged with perjury and tampering with evidence, and James Simon, accused of perjury.

All three men were indicted by a special grand jury last December.

Sandman, under questioning by Prosecutor Simon Leis, said he had considered the suspended police chief to be a good man and a good administrator "until late November of last year."

At that point in the testimony, there was an objection by Goodin's attorneys and a 1½ hour conference was held in Judge Gilbert Bettman's chambers.

After the conference, Leis again asked Sandman's opinion after December 1975 of Goodin's "truth and veracity."

"I'm sorry to say, but it's bad," Sandman said.

Castellini answered Leis' question about the suspended chief's honesty and truthfulness by saying, "I'm sorry to say, it's poor."

Both men disagreed with an recollection by Goodin of a breakfast meeting in which Castellini, Sandman and the police chief took part.

Both Sandman and Castellini recalled that Goodin had bristled at a suggestion that the vice squad should be transferred.

Life among the Philadelphia Phillies is finally agreeing with Dick Allen. The Phils are running away with the National League East and the sometimes moody, controversial Allen is thoroughly enjoying the trip.

"This is really fun," said Allen after Philadelphia dumped Cincinnati 4-2 Wednesday night. "Whether I'm 0-for-12 or 0-for 1,200, I'm having fun."

"I'd pay to watch a playoff between these two teams ... and I can't stand to watch baseball."

Allen, in his second go-round with Philadelphia after turbulent stints with St. Louis, Los Angeles and the Chicago White Sox, has got his batting average up to .286 and is regaining the earlier form that made him one of the game's most feared sluggers.

He got the Phils' winning rally going in the ninth with a leadoff double and took third on an infield out. After a walk, pinch-hitter Bob Boone grounded to third and Pete Rose bounced his throw off first baseman Tony Perez' chest, allowing Allen to score the tie-breaking run. Dave Cash singled in an insurance run as Philadelphia beat the NL West leaders for the fifth time in seven games this season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles blanked Houston 1-0, San Francisco beat San Diego twice, 7-6 and 8-7, Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Montreal, 5-2 and 3-0, the New York Mets edged St. Louis 5-4 and the Chicago Cubs shaded Pittsburgh 6-5.

Until Rose's throwing error in the ninth, the Phils and Reds had battled on even terms. Mike Schmidt clubbed his 20th homer of the year for a 1-0 Philly lead in the fourth, then Johnny Bench tied it for the Reds in the bottom of the inning with a sacrifice fly.

Cincinnati went on top 2-1 on George

Foster's homer in the sixth, his 16th, then the Phils got even in the seventh when Allen got aboard on a forceout and came around on Jay Johnstone's double and a groundout. Ron Reed, 6-2 was the winner and Pedro Borbon, 0-1, the loser, both in relief.

Dodgers 1, Astros 0

Rick Rhoden, 6-0, fired a three-hitter to outduel J.R. Richard, 7-8, who allowed just two hits through eight innings. Rhoden scored the game's only run in the sixth when he singled, raced to third on Bill Buckner's double and scampered home on a sacrifice fly by Ted Sizemore.

Giants 7-8, Padres 6-7

Newly-acquired Darrell Evans belted a two-run homer and a triple in the first game and clubbed a grand slam homer in the nightcap to San Francisco. The Padres had 31 hits to 17 for the Giants in the doubleheader, but San Francisco made theirs count more. Gary Thomasson hit a three-run homer for San Francisco in the opener and Bobby Murcer had a three-run shot in the second game.

Braves 5-3, Expos 2-0

Andy Messersmith and Phil Niekro turned in a pair of sparkling efforts for Atlanta. Messersmith, 7-5, continued to pay dividends on his million-dollar contract with a five-hitter and a two-run single in the opener. Niekro, 6-4, tossed a four-hitter and struck out 10 batters in the nightcap.

Atlanta outfielder Rowland Office collected base hits in both games to extend his hitting streak to 29 games, just eight short of the NL record of 37 set by Tommy Holmes in 1945 with the Boston Braves.

Mets 5, Cardinals 4

Jerry Grote's leadoff home run in the ninth enabled New York to break a four-game losing streak. It was Grote's first hit in his last 24 at-bats. Tom Seaver, 8-5, bested Pete Falcone, 5-6, with an 11-strikeout performance. Del Unser homered for the Mets and Joe Ferguson hit one for St. Louis.

Cubs 6, Pirates 5

A throwing error by Bob Moose in the ninth inning, the fifth Pittsburgh error of the game, allowed the winning run to score as Chicago snapped a four-game losing streak. Willie Stargell and Dave Parker hit home runs for the Pirates. Only one of Chicago's runs was earned.

A scheduled second game was postponed by darkness with Pittsburgh leading 2-0 after four innings. It will be replayed from the start at an undetermined future date.

Little League

In Little League action, the Mustangs downed the Levi-Boys 11-9. Harris hit the only homerun on the game for the Mustangs. Craig, Smith, Mercer, and Bonecutter all had doubles.

The Mustangs broke a sixth inning tie with two runs to give M. Craig the win while Thomas took the loss. Craig struck out seven Levi batters while Thomas struck out ten.

The Jets came up with six runs in the fifth inning to pound the Flashes 9-3. Jones doubled and Hart tripled for the Jets.

Dugan and Nance combined on the mound for the Flashes with Dugan suffering the loss. Cox went all the way for the Jets allowing only four hits and striking out 10.

Dick Hughes picked up the win for Jeffersonville. Gary Dunn took the loss.

VFW flew past the Eagles 7-3. Hollar and Ackley hit two homers for VFW. Hollar was the winning pitcher and he handed Upthegrove the loss.

Babe Ruth results

Girtons, who have been undefeated so far this year were upset by Craigs in a 6-3 ballgame. Tom Dean delivered a fine pitching performance for Craig's allowing only eight hits.

The key to the Craigs victory which moved their record to seven and one and gave them first place, was their outstanding defense. Mike Eddlemon played a strong game at short stop. Catcher Dave Hennessy threw out three Girtion runners as they attempted to steal.

Girtions moved out to an early three run lead before Craigs went to work. Dee Foster was three for three and Dennis Dunn was two for three.

Culley and Riley were on the mound for Girtions and took the loss.

Bobby Orr set to make Chicago debut

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Orr is scheduled to make his Chicago debut today and, in a public ceremony, sign a contract making him the newest Black Hawk and the team's first superstar since Bobby Hull left the National Hockey League team for the World Hockey Association.

Orr, 28, and the Black Hawks reportedly have agreed on a $3-million, multi-year pact even though the former Boston Bruin defenseman has undergone five operations on his left knee.

SECOND UNEARNED RUN — Hillsboro first baseman Tavor scores the second of five unearned runs in the third inning as Post 25 catcher John Bakenhester is unable to handle the ball.

Unearned runs plague legion

In a game that saw six unearned runs, Hillsboro defeated Post 25 5-1. Miscues on both sides accounted for all the scoring plays.

Courthouse got their only unearned run in the first when Coe singled and Conner was safe on a fielder's choice. Fisher and Elliott both reached base safely with the help of two Hillsboro errors while Conner came home on the errors with Post 25's only run.

Hillsboro scored all five of their unearned runs in the third after pitcher Jeff Elliott had retired two batters.

Comer was safe for Hillsboro on an error and later scored on an error. Taylor walked and also later scored on an error. Hauke also was safe on an error and later scored on a base hit.

Davis reached first on a base hit and he also scored on an error. Larimer got an easy trip around the bases as he singled and went for a double. He went to third on an error and then came home as the throw to third went into the Post dugout.

After walking Sanders, Post 25 finally got the third out as Woods flew out to center. The result of the disastrous third inning, five runs on one hit and six errors.

Woods was the winning pitcher allowing only the one unearned run on five hits. He struck out six. Elliott took the loss, giving up the five unearned runs in the third. Hillsboro managed nine hits off Elliott who struck out four.

Morgan on bench worries many

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan has found himself on the bench more often than usual this season, and there's some question who's more upset—Morgan or his teammates.

"I can't sit still on the bench," said the 1975 Most Valuable Player who has been fighting injuries much of the season. "If I sit I get involved in the game. I gotta yell and the guys get mad."

Morgan has been in and out of the lineup since mid-May, when New York Mets shortstop Bud Harrelson accidentally kneed him in the head at second base during a stolen base attempt. Morgan said he had to twist his body unnaturally on the play, causing a strained muscle in his back.

"I can do everything except swing the bat well," he said. "If it were September, I'd play every day. Or if we didn't have Doug Flynn, I'd play. But he's getting three hits every day," Flynn, a reserve infielder, is hitting over .300, while seeing much more action than last year, when he batted .268 as a rookie.

Morgan, who currently leads the All-Star voting, isn't happy on the bench but has a philosophical attitude about the injury.

"I don't get nagging because I always loosen up," he said. "But I've been stealing bases for 12 years and this is the first time I've ever been hurt stealing a base."

"People don't realize that stealing a base is the most dangerous play in the game," he added.

So far, Morgan has missed 11 games entirely and served only as a pinch-hitter or pinch-runner in several others. He has about 90 less at-bats than Pete Rose, who hasn't missed a game in over two years.

Mike Marshall switches uniforms

ATLANTA (AP) — "We're after Cincinnati and when you go after the Reds you have to go for the best in the game," said Atlanta Braves General Manager John Alevizos, explaining his newest acquisition, reliever Mike Marshall.

"Marshall was my prime objective," Alevizos said Wednesday night, shortly after obtaining the 33-year-old right-hander from the Los Angeles Dodgers. "I consider him one of the premier relievers in baseball."

The Braves also sold relief pitcher Elias Sosa and infielder Lee Lacy to the Dodgers.

Marshall, a veteran of nine big league seasons and winner of the 1974 Cy Young Award when he pitched in 106 games for the Dodgers — winning 15 games and losing 12 with an earned run average of 2.42 — came to the Braves in a straight waiver deal, not a trade, which cost Atlanta $20,000, Alevizos said.

"I spoke to Mike in Houston and the first thing he asked me was, 'Where are you tomorrow?' I told him we're in Atlanta and he said, 'I'll be there.'"

"I told him, 'With that kind of spirit, I'll meet you at the airport.' If I'd have known he was that kind of guy, I'd have doubled my efforts to get him," Alevizos added.

Marshall, contacted in Houston where the Dodgers were playing the Astros, said: "A trade is something that should be accepted by any player. Players and fans should accept the fact that players are sold and traded with little concern for the players' wishes ... but that is the owners' prerogative."

"But I don't think a player should be blamed for trying to shape his own destiny," Marshall continued. "That's an aspect of free enterprise."

"There is nothing physically wrong with me and hopefully I can get all the work I want there," he said.

Dodgers Manager Walt Alston said Marshall indicated no hard feelings when told of the trade.

"I never had any problems with Mike," Alston said. "He has always given 100 per cent. I used him when I had to and I didn't use him when I didn't need to, just like any other player. I feel he can still pitch."

"We gave up a lot, but we got a lot," said Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol, whose club is virtually brand new from one that finished 40½ games behind the Reds last season.

Atlanta is currently 30-37 after winning seven of its last eight games and is 11½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League West.

Marshall was 4-3 this season in 30 appearances. He had eight saves and a 4.45 ERA but had been used sparingly of late with the emergence of Charlie Hough in the Los Angeles bullpen.

Sosa was 4-4 in 35 1-3 innings and his ERA was 5.40. Lacy was hitting .272 with three home runs and 20 runs batted in.

Baseball to return to Washington courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley will soon have their monumental hassle aired in the halls of Congress in addition to the courts and news media.

Finley shocked the sports world June 15 by holding a clearance sale of players who led the A's to three world championships. He handed pitcher Rollie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million apiece, then dealt pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

Three days later, Kuhn pulled an even bigger shocker. He voided the deals, saying he was taking his lawsuit-producing action in the interest of preserving baseball's integrity.

The new House Select Committee on Professional Sports want the two combatants, along with owners George Steinbrenner of the Yanks and Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox, to come to Washington to defend their positions before the panel.

Some members want them here for a hearing next week. Chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said at the panel's first meeting Wednesday that an attempt will be made to schedule a hearing next week or, if that's not possible, the week of July 19.

The 13-member special House committee formed to investigate professional sports was created last month as a result of baseball's rebuff of Sisk's ad hoc panel, which has been seeking unsuccessfully to bring baseball back to the nation's capital since the end of the 1971 season, when the American League's Washington Senators moved to Texas.

Sisk said the committee would first investigate baseball and then move on to other sports.

Remodeling A 200-Year-Old House

AFTER BUYING A 200-year-old house in Washington, Conn., Father Willoughby Newton remodeled it, including the removal of walls to make one large living area.

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures
Where do church people go when they retire?

That thought occurred to Father Willoughby Newton one day and he realized it was something he should face up to — sooner than later. It turned him into a do-it-yourselfer.

The Virginia-born Episcopalian priest is headmaster of the girls' school, Wykeham Rise, at Washington, Conn.

"I suddenly realized that I had never really had a home of my own," he says. "I've always lived in the homes of other people. Sometime I'd want my own house."

He decided he had "a good number of work years ahead so he could afford to make the house investment now." If he waited 15 or so years, he felt he might not be able to afford it.

Within a short walk of the school, off a lane appropriately called Sabbath Lane, he found Sabbath House, a 200-year-old house that he could remodel "without raising the hackles of neighbors." Built before the Revolution, the rooms were tiny, two above, two below, plus bath and kitchen.

A maintenance man-friend who worked for him at the school agreed to lend a guiding hand and as it turned out he was "an indefatigable worker."

The design had been put on paper — he had once wanted to be an architect — Father Newton explained, and he knew that he would remove several walls.

"Not renowned for my manual skills, I soon discovered that a wrecking bar has two ends. If one doesn't work, you try the other," he said.

He did all the gutting of lathe and sheet rock, he helped cart some of the new sheet rock, and he even learned to cut it. He also put insulation into walls and floors. He worked inside closets and did a lot of the painting.

"At the school I somehow never feel I have completed a project. But here I had the feeling that I was accomplishing something every time I worked. And it was therapeutic. The work stretched from a couple of hours a day to some 12-hour days on Saturdays and vacation days. In fact, I complained to my co-worker that I had never worked him that hard at school," he said, laughing.

A contractor was hired to add 12 feet to the house for a new kitchen area, "at the back of the house because I'm such a messy cook," he said.

The fireplace was paneled with yellow pine taken from the old bedroom doors and with walls removed on either side it opened the two rooms into a 24-by-24-foot area. Wide floor boards were stained walnut for an old look.

In addition to family heirlooms, acquisitions from friends and his own Barcelona chairs and a Portuguese rug — there is a handsome collection of porcelain colored eggs on the bookshelves, bright white porcelain and ironstone on a circular table, and unusual wall art that includes a photograph of the tombstone of Peter Thorp, first occupant of the house.

"I'm considering renting the house so that I can convert eventually to add a convenient bedroom and bath on the lower floor," Father Newton, said, adding that "once you start do-it-yourself, you are sort of hooked."

NEW SHORTCUT?—Attempting to park in a Huntington Bank drive-in parking space, the driver of this vehicle mistakenly struck the accelerator, causing the car to move over an embankment, Washington C.H. police officers reported.

Miscue sends car over embankment

In the process of parking early Thursday, a Washington C. H. woman apparently accelerated by mistake, causing her car to be propelled partially over an embankment, Washington C. H. police officers reported.

Dorothy E. Carman, 60, of 643 Comfort Lane, told police officers that as she was attempting to park in the Huntington Bank drive-in parking lot, 135 N. Fayette St., her foot slipped off the brake pedal and struck the accelerator.

The car traveled forward, striking a parked car belonging to Roger F. Miller, 201 River Road, and then stopped halfway over an embankment in front of the parking space.

Both cars were moderately damaged in the 8:35 a.m. Thursday mishap.

A car driven by Lucy M. McElwain, 88, of Greenfield, struck the second car of a passing train near the 1100 block of S. Elm Street, at 1:44 p.m. Wednesday. Ms. McElwain apparently did not hear the whistle or see the engine of the approaching train. Her car was moderately damaged, and no one was injured.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that a car driven by David D. Scott, 35, of Jeffersonville, lost control of his car on a curve in Jeffersonville.

The car had been westbound on State Street, when it went off the road near Main Street, and damaged some road signs. The car was moderately damaged in the 12:15 a.m. Thursday accident.

Joblessness rate falls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The rate of joblessness decreased to 6.9 per cent in Ohio in May as more work became available, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said Wednesday.

Employment improved moderately. In May 1975, 4.31 million were employed. In the past month, 4.38 million had jobs.

The hardest hit industry during the recession—manufacturing—added 20,000 employees during the year, also lengthening the average workweek by 1.7 hours.

In May, 324,000 persons were without work, compared to 430,000 during the corresponding period the previous year. Unemployment dropped from the May 1975 rate of 9.1 per cent, compared to 7.4 per cent in April 1976.

Ohio's unemployment rate will probably rise seasonally in June, as students enter the labor market for permanent or summer jobs," a report by the bureau said Wednesday. "With continued recovery, rate should drop and employment peak for year by October."

Factory employment reached 1.27 million with the average workweek up to 41.5 hours. Production employees in the factory grossed $249 a week last month, a record high that includes overtime but not the value of fringe benefits. Gross hourly earnings reached $6, also a record level. Average hourly earnings over the year amounted to a 10 per cent gain.

In non-manufacturing, the pattern was mixed but the net result moved ahead. Construction, transportation and utilities still must recover to levels of a year earlier in employment. However, service industries increased nearly 28,000 while wholesale and retail trade added 9,000 to the payroll.

Rebate program to conserve gas

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Power and Light Co. estimates that a rebate program by a Dayton-based company which paid 20 per cent toward its employees' bills for insulating their attics will save about 10.5 million cubic feet of natural gas each year.

The company, Reynolds and Reynolds, a producer of business forms and electronic data processing services, said the rebate offer was conceived as a means of saving southwestern Ohio jobs that may be lost because of natural gas curtailments at manufacturing plants.

The firm says 97 per cent of its workers participated in the program which cost about $4,958 and resulted in about $25,000 in sales for local insulation dealers.

Jack Ford says Nixon misled dad

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Ford says former President Richard Nixon took advantage of many Americans, including himself and his father, the President.

Young Ford, 23, also replied with a flat "no" when asked during an interview whether Nixon has a future in the Republican party.

Part of the segment for the CBS program "June Magazine," telecast today, was filmed while the President's son was being interviewed by a Rolling Stone magazine writer aboard a campaign bus in California.

Asked if Nixon is still on the minds of Republicans, young Ford replied:

"A lot of people just feel like they got taken advantage of, screwed over, quite frankly. I'm one of those people. I worked for Richard Nixon in '72. I voted for Richard Nixon; I thought he was the best candidate."

"Richard Nixon didn't treat my father the way my father treated him."

Ford said his father "feels if a guy can look him in the eye and say, 'I am not a crook, I'm an honest man,' he's going to take that man at his word...."

"He looked my father in the eye and said, 'Jerry, I'm innocent, all this is fabrication of the press, I need your help to try to put an end to it.'"

Demo meets with Congressional leaders

Carter says VP choice could be woman, black

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter says his vice presidential choice is likely to have a Washington background and could be a woman or a black. But the former Georgia governor isn't ready to name names.

Carter, in the capital for a series of meetings today with congressional leaders, says he has not yet whittled down a list of 10 or 12 persons he said he is considering as his running mate.

Carter is expected to win firstballot nomination as the Democrats' presidential candidate when the party convenes its national convention in New York next month.

He commented in a brief news conference Wednesday night after flying from New York, where he delivered a foreign policy speech and took part in five fund-raising events to help cover campaign debts.

The Republican presidential battle resumes today when President Ford and Ronald Reagan step up their delegate hunt. GOP delegates will be selected at four state conventions this coming weekend.

Carter planned separate meetings today with House and Senate Democrats; House Speaker Carl Albert and Majority Leader Thomas O'Neill; Sens. Robert Byrd of West Virginia; Edmund Muskie of Maine, and Henry Jackson of Washington.

He also was to meet with Democratic Party Chairman Robert Strauss.

Carter also said he has decided to decline President Ford's offer of an FBI background check of prospective running mates.

"The more I think about it, the more I think it would be inappropriate," said Carter, who expressed concern last week that such an investigation could violate privacy rights.

But he said that before the Democratic National Convention, he or a staff member will conduct personal interviews with "one or more" of those under consideration for the No. 2 position on the ticket.

Carter told reporters "the likelihood is that it will be someone with Washington experience," although he said there are some persons on the list without that background.

He said in reply to questions that he was "seriously" considering either a black or a woman, but refused to comment in greater detail.

Carter asked his polling organization recently to test public opinion of vice presidential possibilities, including Sen. Alan Cranston of California, who took himself out of the race Wednesday night, saying vice-presidential speculation was hurting his campaign for Senate Whip.

Carter now has 1,467 of the 1,505 delegates needed for the nomination, according to an Associated Press tally. He could go over the top when North Dakota Democrats select 13 delegates on Friday.

Carter aides said that in the New York fund raisers, Carter raised about $175,000. Two fundraising events in Boston on Tuesday brought in about $60,000, he said.

Carter campaign treasurer Robert Lipshutz said last week the campaign was about $600,000 in debt.

The Republican delegate tally stands at 1,008 for Ford and 928 for Reagan, an 80-delegate lead for the President with 161 delegates uncommitted and 161 yet to be chosen.

After four days at home in California, Reagan flies to Mississippi today where there are 30 uncommitted GOP national convention delegates, the largest remaining uncommitted bloc. Ford was working in Washington today and has no political journeys scheduled for this weekend.

Simultaneous bell-ringing set July 4th

If you hear a ringing in your ears on July 4, it may be the result of a planned nationwide event in which Fayette County residents are being asked to participate.

On that special Sunday, at 2 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time, a simultaneous "bell ringing" is scheduled to take place across the nation. The Fayette County Bicentennial Commission is requesting that all Fayette County area residents possessing bells ring them at this time for two minutes.

According to informed sources, bells of all sizes, shapes, and volume will commence ringing in every state at 2 p.m. EDT. A distinctive tone will be broadcast over radio from Philadelphia to inaugurate the event.

At the completion of the two minute ringing period in Washington C.H., the July 4 parade will commence. The Fayette County Bicentennial Commission hopes that spectators lining the parade route will bring bells and participate in the occasion.

New OSU cage coach tells Chamber crowd

'We'll deserve to win everytime'

Record-Herald Editor

Ohio State University's basketball fortunes have been sagging during the past few seasons, but it appears that situation will change shortly at least on the surface.

Eldon Miller, a young, quiet man who was selected three months ago to turn around the Buckeye basketball program, promised an exciting and never-say-die team to the audience at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting Wednesday night.

"I don't know how good we can play, but don't count us out. We'll play to the hilt," said Miller who served as head basketball coach at Western Michigan University for six years before being named Ohio State's ninth basketball mentor.

"We can't win everytime, but we'll deserve to win everytime," said Miller in looking ahead to his new assignment. "No one has beaten us yet. They'll have to do it on the (basketball) floor."

The enthusiastic and personable Miller told the crowd of more than 200 persons in the Mahan Building that, "We hope if you come to watch us once, you'll want to come back. Nothing suffers more than basketball without enthusiasm."

Miller, who has 15 years of coaching experience at the college level including 14 years as a head coach, admitted he has his work cut out because of minimal recruiting.

"We've got a lot of work to do, but I'm excited about it. I hope you'll thoroughly enjoy us making Ohio State basketball what it should be," Miller stated.

Ohio State's new head coach linked education with recruiting.

"We want players who are going to graduate," Miller noted. "Ohio State University is an educational institution and there are very few players who are going to play pro ball. We're looking for kids who really want a college education, and we've already turned down a couple of players with great talent because they weren't concerned with their schooling."

There are no secrets to recruiting, according to Miller. "It's just hard work. It's the most demanding and most important part of winning college basketball games."

"We don't recruit every top basketball player, but you don't have to. Only three of the top five are needed every year. Ohio is a great basketball state, but we won't stop at state lines when recruiting," Miller emphasized.

He said his staff is presently visiting high school juniors and that the assistant coaches will travel over 20,000 miles each next year in recruiting high school talent.

The 36-year-old Miller predicted that "it will take two more years (of recruiting) before we'll (Ohio State) have a great year."

But, Miller stressed that athletics can become too serious.

"If you (the fans) find me taking myself too serious, kick me in the rear end. I also plan to have fun with Ohio State basketball."

Som kind words were spoken by Miller about Fred Taylor, the 51-year-old dean of Big Ten basketball coaches whom he replaced.

"When he (Taylor) resigned, it made me sad. He was always my idol, Miller explained. "He was a coach's coach and an athlete's coach. He was one of the finest in the United States," Miller said of Taylor, who was the Ohio State helm for 18 years.

However, Miller said he was pleased Ohio State officials waited so long to name Taylor's replacement.

"Winning was new at Western Michigan, and I wasn't going to do anything to detract from it," said the 1961 product of Wittenberg University, Springfield.

Miller led Western Michigan University to its finest year ever last season when the Broncos posted a 25-3 record and advanced to the NCAA Mid-

JFK assassination probe continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Schweiker says his staff is pursuing a number of leads on the assassination of President Kennedy that could link the 1963 slaying to either a pro-or anti-Cuban conspiracy.

The leads were not disclosed in the Senate intelligence committee's report on the assassination, Schweiker said. The committee report was released Wednesday, revealing a pattern of noncooperation between key CIA and FBI officials and the Warren Commission, which concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy.

One lead mentioned in the Senate committee report, involving the "strange travel" of a Cuban-American with a possible tie to Oswald and Cuban intelligence, also is being pursued. Staffers are checking a reported sighting of the man in Dallas at the time of the Kennedy assassination in November 1963, Schweiker said.

The Pennsylvania Republican refused to disclose any details concerning one "very hot lead" that would link the assassination to an anti-Cuban group or another "very promising" lead involving pro-Cuban forces, saying to do so would jeopardize the investigation.

Schweiker commented following the release of a 106-page report Wednesday which said the CIA and FBI failed to follow up leads that "might have substantially affected the course of the investigation" into whether there was a conspiracy to kill Kennedy.

The report said "it is difficult to understand" why the CIA did not investigate the possibility that Cuba's Fidel Castro knew about a 1963 CIA plot against his life and ordered Kennedy's death in retaliation.

The plot, involving an undercover agent code-named AM-LASH, continued even though "reports received by the CIA during the fall of 1963 contained information which should have raised questions about the operation's security," suggesting AM-LASH may have been a double agent working with Cuban intelligence.

Agency officials talked to AM-LASH in October 1963 and on Nov. 22 — the day Kennedy was shot — AM-LASH was given a poison pen device by the CIA with which to kill Castro, according to the report.

Schweiker said he would be unable to pursue the possibility that the AM-LASH plot triggered Kennedy's assassination because members of his staff do not have needed clearances for access to CIA documents.

Schweiker said his investigators also are at a dead end in pursuing a lead that involves a mysterious Cubana Airlines flight from Mexico City to Cuba on the night of Kennedy's death.

The report said that in December 1963 the CIA received information that the flight was delayed for five hours awaiting an unidentified passenger who arrived in a twin-engine aircraft at 10:30 p.m. and boarded the Cubana plane without passing through customs, where he would have needed to identify himself.

However, Schweiker said his investigators are still tracking the "strange travel" patterns of a Cuban-American mentioned in the report as having a possible involvement in the assassination. The man may have had contact with Oswald.

Schweiker said his investigators are now checking a reported sighting of the man in Dallas at the time of the assassination.

The Senate committee report said it is not known why "senior officials in the CIA and FBI permitted the Warren Commission to reach its conclusions without all relevant information" but added that it is possible that the officials "made conscious decisions not to disclose potentially important information."

According to the report, senior government officials "wanted the investigation completed promptly and all conspiracy rumors dispelled." Within 14 hours of Kennedy's death, the FBI narrowed the focus of its investigation to Oswald alone and within weeks issued a report concluding Oswald was the sole assassin, the report said.

After 17 months on one of the city's seven hot seats, Washington C.H. City Council member Eddie Fisher tendered his resignation Wednesday night.

The letter of resignation submitted to City Council chairman Joseph O'Brien stated that Fisher would vacate the seat for personal reasons. The resignation becomes effective July 30 or as soon as a replacement can be found.

Fisher, 149 Carolyn Road, a welding supervisor at the Armco Steel Corp.

Additional coverage of Wednesday night's regular Washington C.H. City Council meeting can be found on page 8 of today's edition.

Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H., was appointed last January to fill a Council vacancy.

The 44-year-old Fisher took the oath of office Jan. 22, 1975 after being appointed to the seat vacated by City Council member Hugh S. (Bud) Patton. The term was to expire Dec. 31, 1977.

Council has been cloaked in controversy throughout Fisher's tenure. An income tax imposed in 1975 was later repealed on an initiative action. Petitions for a similar action are now being circulated against the present tax. Late in 1975, Council accepted a government grant and authorized installation of a $23.6 million sewer system.

There was an unsuccessful effort to abandon the council-manager form of government last year, and petitions to bring this issue to a vote in 1976 are also being circulated at the present time.

EDDIE FISHER

Whatever the personal reasons for the resignation, the constant pressure to which all Council members have been subjected has undoubtedly taken its toll.

O'Brien accepted the letter from Fisher with a deep sense of personal regret. Members of Council as well as the majority of Council's critics greatly respected Fisher's dedication to the post.

He was a staunch advocate of openness in government. He himself had backed his votes, popular or unpopular, with reasoning. Fisher occasionally criticized his colleagues for failure to support their positions.

Alleged FBI burglars mum with attorneys

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents under investigation for allegedly committing burglaries have been ordered not to talk to their lawyers about their case until the lawyers are cleared to receive secret government information.

Department sources have confirmed that the civil rights division is investigating at least 20 FBI agents involved in intelligence-gathering burglaries during the past five years. The probe involves possible illegal violations of the civil rights of American citizens.

The FBI agents were given the instructions about their lawyers in a teletyped message from FBI headquarters last Friday, according to Jack B. Solerwitz, an attorney representing some of the FBI men.

The restriction suggests that the Justice Department probe involves break-ins which the FBI considered sensitive national security matters.

"My clients have been told they are the targets of an investigation of surreptitious entries," Solerwitz said in an interview Wednesday.

THE OHIO Bureau of Employment Services office in Washington C.H. will be closed Monday July 5 in observance of Independence Day.

Mrs. Gayle Kelly, manager of the Washington C.H. office, said claimants who normally report on Monday should report on Tuesday at the regular scheduled times.

Republican state conventions will be held Friday and Saturday in four states. Sixty-three Republican will be selected — 18 in Minnesota, 20 in Montana, 21 in New Mexico and 4 in Idaho.

Ford is looking for a sweep in Minnesota, but a rules change is needed to make it possible. Reagan backers want to take all 20 Montana delegates, but Ford's supporters are holding out for a 13-7 split.

Ford campaigners concede the President is unlikely to win even a single delegate in New Mexico. The four Idaho delegates are also likely to go to Reagan.

Four indicted in 1961 union murder

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, a Teamsters boss questioned in the Jimmy Hoffa disappearance, remained in custody today after being indicted in the 1961 kidnap-murder of a union official.

Three other men were also named in the indictment.

Provenzano, 59, secretary-treasurer of Local 560 in Union City, N.J., and a powerhouse in Teamsters politics for more than a decade, was charged Wednesday in the murder of Anthony "Three Fingers Brown" Castellitto, who was secretary-treasurer of Local 560 when he disappeared.

A federal grand jury in New York charged the four men with violating federal kidnaping and conspiracy statutes.

The other defendants were identified as Salvatore Briguglio, the 13,000-member local's business agent; George J. Vangelakos of Jersey City, and Harold Konigsberg, presently serving a 44-year sentence at the Clinton Correctional Facility in Danamora, N.Y., for extortion.

In Ulster County, N.Y., another indictment Wednesday charged Briguglio and Konigsberg with murder and Provenzano with conspiracy to commit murder in the same case.

The indictments charged that the defendants, along with two unindicted coconspirators, agreed to lure Castellitto from Lodi, N.J., to his farm in Kerhonkson, N.Y., for the murder.

One of the unindicted coconspirators is reportedly a government witness. The other is dead.

The federal indictment charged that Provenzano paid $10,000 to Konigsberg for the murder.

It also alleged that as a reward for his part in the scheme, Briguglio was appointed the local's business agent by Provenzano.

Bail for Briguglio and Provenzano was set at $100,000 each. It was originally set at $200,000 each, but a federal judge reduced it. Bail for Vangelakos, a trucker, was set at $50,000.

Provenzano reportedly opposed Hoffa's attempt to regain the national presidency of the Teamsters. He reportedly also had violent arguments with Hoffa over his loss of pension benefits.

Hoffa has been missing since July 30, 1975. His body has not been recovered, and no one has been charged in connection with the case.

Before he disappeared, Hoffa allegedly told his wife he planned to meet Provenzano and Anthony Giacalone, a Detroit gangster, at a restaurant outside of town.

Last U.S. advisers leave Chinese isles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last U.S. military advisers on Quemoy and Matsu, the two Nationalist Chinese islands near mainland China, are being removed, a State Department official says.

The official said the step was part of a general reduction of U.S. military personnel overseas. He also said it was tied to the Shanghai communique issued at the end of then-President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 visit to mainland China.

That mutual declaration included a statement that the United States would cut its military activity in the Far East as part of the U.S. effort to improve relations with the mainland.

The decision to remove the last military advisers could add fuel to Ronald Reagan's claim that the Ford administration is giving up Taiwan for improved relations with Peking. There are a total of five or six American advisers on the islands, according to U.S. officials.

The two islands lie about 20 miles from the mainland and approximately 100 miles from Taiwan. Since 1949 when the Chinese Communists won the civil war and the losing forces of Chiang Kai-shek fled to Taiwan and Quemoy and Matsu, the two heavily fortified islands have been a symbol of Nationalist Chinese resistance to the Mainland.

The official, who asked that his name not be used, said the removal of the advisers was "in the works" as part of a "worldwide, routine reduction in military activity." He did not specify any timetable.

The official noted that the 1972 Shanghai communique dealt with the eventual decrease of U.S. military activity in the Far East. He said the U.S. force on Taiwan had been reduced from 10,000 in 1972 to about 2,000 troops now there.

A ranking House member reported a month ago that he was told "there is a movement afoot" in the State Department to end U.S. relations with Taiwan after the November election and establish full diplomatic relations with Peking.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., in line to become chairman of the House International Relations Committee next year, said he learned of the move from Taiwanese diplomats. The State Department sidestepped the issue at the time and said only that President Ford has reaffirmed U.S. determination to normalize relations with Peking.

The U.S. position has been that any attack against the two islands would be viewed as an attack on Taiwan itself.

East Regionals. The 25 wins was a new school record and the team won its first-ever undisputed Mid-American Conference championship, accomplishments which helped Miller win the "Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year" title in 1976.

On a somewhat patriotic note, Miller related experiences of a 23-day tour to Finland and Italy with the Western Michigan team last summer.

"Never before have I appreciated what we have in the United States today than I did after the trip," Miller stressed. It (the United States) ain't perfect, but it's a helluva lot better than what they (the Europeans) have."

He continued, "I'd like to have every young person in the state go. You can't appreciate the U.S. enough until you spent some time over there."

Miller closed with a sales pitch after fielding questions from the audience. "Get your season tickets now," he said.

It wouldn't be surprising if many of the more than 200 persons attending the meeting did just that.

Simon's newest comedy in Sabina

SABINA, Ohio — They said it couldn't be done, but Neil Simon has indeed made a funny play out of the Book of Job.

The well-known playwright has transferred the scene to a mansion on Long Island where a tycoon, a wife draped in diamonds, a prodigal son, and a pair of kookie twins reside.

Everything is fine until one fateful night a prowler enters — a messenger from God with a big "G" on his sweatshirt. The modern Job will not renounce God, so forthwith a fire is sent to wipe him out — factory and home. Everything becomes a test of his faith.

The Simon comedy, "God's Favorite," will be the first offering of the Sabina Barn Theatre season. Acclaimed as Simon's best comedy, "God's Favorite" is filled with outrageously funny moments that will make the audience laugh as well as cry.

The New York Daily News wrote of "God's Favorite," it is "Awesomely funny. And rather sweet. And Healing. The work of a man of vision. It'll make you laugh out loud."

"God's Favorite" will be staged June 25 and 26 at 8:15 p.m. with a smorgasbord-buffet being offered in addition to the theatre on all Friday and Saturday night performances. A special Sunday afternoon matinee will be presented on Sunday, June 27 at 3 p.m.

Repeat performances will be presented on July 16 and 31 at 8:15 p.m. Ticket reservations and information may be obtained by calling the box office at 513-584-4410, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Sabina Barn Theatre, Sabina Campgrounds, P.O. Box 96, Sabina,

TIME OUT — Ruth Phillips, a member of the resident acting company, pauses for a moment from her hectic schedule to begin work on her character in the Sabina Barn Theatre's opening production of "God's Favorite."

Ohio, 45169. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Box office hours are from 1 to 4 p.m.

Tips on easy ways to rough it

NEW YORK (AP) — Dian Thomas was sitting cross-legged on the plush carpet of her 19th floor room in an elegant hotel here, frying bacon on the top of a tin can.

"What I really tried to do," she said, flipping the spattering bacon, "was show people the methods of camping without spending a lot of money on equipment."

Miss Thomas was demonstrating on of the cooking techniques from her book, "Roughing It Easy: A Unique Idea Book for Camping and Cooking."

And the theme of that book is that with a little ingenuity it is possible to do sophisticated cooking on camping trips without spending a great deal of money on equipment.

The ingenious camper doesn't even need to buy a frying pan. Witness the hotel room bacon:

—A tuna fish can, filled with coiled cardboard and covered with melted wax was the source of heat. Put a match to it and it burns just like canned heat.

Ohio to hold clinics for stock producers

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Field days for state livestock producers are planned for late July and early August by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

The beef producers' day, July 31, and a similar one for sheep producers, Aug. 6, will be at the center's Caldwell facility. Dairymen's day, Aug. 13, will be in the Wooster headquarters.

New techniques for livestock production will be on display and under discussion.

—A one-gallon can was the stove. One lid had been removed, and a side was raised so that the burning tuna can could be slipped inside. The other lid was the cooking surface.

According to Miss Thomas, and "Roughing It Easy," the variations are nearly infinite.

She offers advice on how to bake, broil, roast, fry and boil food outdoors, and recipes for such exotic outdoor meals as strawberry upsidedown cake, sourdough bread and bacon and eggs cooked together in a brown paper bag.

The daughter of a forest ranger, Miss Thomas grew up in Utah, spending much of her time outdoors. After graduation from Brigham Young University in Salt Lake City, she accepted a home economics teaching position there.

"I thought, 'Now where should I begin?' and I decided I should teach first what I knew best, so I started with an outdoor cooking unit and the students loved it," she said.

When she left the teaching job briefly to take a master's degree in home economics, university officials asked her to write a manual so that other teachers could offer outdoor cooking while Miss Thomas was gone. From the manual came the book, which was published by the Brigham Young University Press.

Miss Thomas was in New York promoting a new paperback edition and boiling water in a paper cup in her hotel room.

She placed a cup filled with water on the burning waxed cardboard in the tuna can and - amazingly - the water boiled and the cup did not burn.

The book includes advice on digging latrines, selecting campsites, varieties of fires and their uses, packing planning, first aid and other camping basics.

About 80 per cent of the book is based on common camping practices, Miss Thomas says, and the other 20 per cent is the product of her own imagination-like frying bacon wrapped around a stick.

"I've found that if you make do with what you have, you'll have a lot more fun," she said.

They're not comparable

Disclosures and hints about the goatish behavior of some members of Congress provide snappy reading. But any attempt to make it appear that the congressional sex scandal is tantamount to another Watergate must be rejected.

This observation is prompted by some partisan remarks from Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa uttered in his capacity as Republican platform chairman. We have no objection to partisan remarks; they are the very stuff of politics in an election year. We do think Ray's intimation that the escapades of a few aging congressional Don Juans can be equated with Watergate needs to be put into perspective.

Ray did not flatly make any such comparison. What he said about Watergate was: "Democrats today, with the scandals, certainly are not in a very good position to try to capitalize on it..." Still, there was an implication that currently revealed peccadilloes of Democratic congressmen would more or less cancel out references to the wrongdoing perpetrated by Nixon and Company.

That is simply nonsense. Even if one throws in the whole tawdry business of congressional high living at the taxpayers' expense, it is nonsense. The situation presently in the news involves individual sexual morality and misuse of public revenues for personal gratification and aggrandizement. We do not condone that. But is this in the same league with the abuses which finally led to Richard Nixon's resignation under threat of impeachment?

The answer, most decidedly, is no. Nixon and his henchmen engaged in a sustained pattern of activities aimed at undermining some of our country's most cherished principles. Watergate was far and away the worst public scandal in American history. It does not bear comparison with the congressional misconduct which is currently making headlines.

managed — or mismanaged — President Ford's campaign, there is appropriate handwringing along with recriminations.

Ford's campaign has been inept and blundering from start to finish. In theory, as the incumbent President with the economy recovering from the recession, Ford should have had virtually all the cards in his hand. The blame, if it finally comes down to a Reagan nomination, can be parcelled out with plenty left over for anyone who may have been overlooked.

Realistic as he is about the prospects just ahead, Vice President Nelson Rockefeller can take a detached view of his own role in the events that have brought his party to the present pass. Last November in a letter to President Ford, he took himself out of consideration for the No. 2 place on the ticket to be chosen at Kansas City.

At a press conference a few days later he underscored his decision in an impressive fashion. As the howl of the conservatives grew louder and as then-Ford campaign director Howard (Bo) Calloway continued to harass him, there was the principal moderate of the party determined to make sure he was no embarrassment to his chief.

Since then Rockefeller has worked consistently and hard for the President's re-election. He has been one of the leading money raisers, speaking at fund-raising dinners across the country. At a strategic moment, just before the Ohio primary, he steered New York's hitherto uncommitted delegates to Ford with the likelihood that all but a scattering of perhaps 15 or 19 of the 154 delegates will vote for the President.

Next month Rockefeller will be 68. Fond of saying that he has served six Presidents, Republicans and Democrats alike, he was probably had more varied experience in government than anyone in Washington. For this experience to go unused — no matter what the outcome of the November election — would be a great loss.

Although they are so completely different in background and political outlook, Rockefeller and Sen. Hubert Humphrey have much in common at this moment as the old order changes. Each pursued the presidency across the years and the supreme irony is that each would have made a better President than the opponent who defeated them.

Rockefeller's nemesis was Richard Nixon. Humphrey's, the left of center of his party bent on the course that resulted in the disaster of 1972.

Unlike Rockefeller, Humphrey will continue to have a political base even as the old order changes. He will be reelected to the Senate and, as majority leader working with a Democratic President, he could perform invaluable service. This is a post, as Lyndon Johnson proved during his years in the Senate, almost as important as the presidency.

No antibiotic has ever been discovered to cure the presidential virus. Humphrey waited until the last minute for his renunciation scene. Not until the day after the three big primaries did he face the inevitable. That was not surprising, since he had come so close — those few thousand votes — to the prize in 1968.

The voters were seeking a new face in Jimmy Carter and a non-Washington face. If he had entered the race in time they might have switched to the new face of Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown. Brown, the late starter, is proving his political ineptitude by pushing for delegates after the nomination has been confirmed beyond a doubt. One can only assume that he, at 38, is looking to 1980.

In almost every primary Carter's wins were by a small percentage of the electorate. The novelty — and as people we take to novelties — of the Plains, Ga., peanut farmer is wearing thin. Carter's task in the fall will be to turn out a big vote on issues and not merely on the miracle of the unknown, the outsider, triumphing over the old pros. Along with novelty, we tend to worship youth. Carter is 52. Adlai Stevenson III, believed most likely to be Carter's choice for Vice President, is 46. That would be a young ticket and an appealing ticket, especially if the opposition is Ronald Reagan, who is 65 years old.

We are launched on a journey into the unknown. The old hands around this town are scratching their heads and asking what Carter really stands for. They don't know and they are unlikely to find out until he settles into 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, if he does.

What historians have called the first traffic accident on record in Ohio took place Aug. 20, 1835, at Norwich in Muskingum County, when a stagecoach overturned on a steep winding road, killing Christopher C. Baldwin, librarian of the American Antiquarian Society of Worcester, Mass.

None of above is Libertarian pick

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "None of the above is acceptable," would be an option for voters to mark on election ballots if one minor party candidate for vice president has his way.

David Bergland, a 40-year-old Newport Beach, Calif., lawyer, is running second on a ticket with Roger L. McBride, the presidential candidate of the decidedly unconventional Libertarian party.

"Our major premise is that traditional politics is the enemy," Bergland said in an interview during an initial campaign swing through Ohio. "It has created a monster."

Bergland attempted unsuccessfully in a referendum drive to get a box on the California ballot for "none of the above" as a voter preference.

"It doesn't matter who wins, it's going to mean the same old thing," he says.

Who are the Libertarians and what do they want?

Simply stated, the party believes government is at its best when it governs least, or almost not at all.

The Libertarian credo calls for a fierce adherence to individual liberties, a free enterprise system not hampered by government regulation, neo-isolationism in foreign affairs and lifting of criminal penalties for "victimless crimes," such as prostitution. Many essential government services would be continued on a volunteer basis, the party believes.

Bergland claims the party's 10,000 or so members include refugees from the old "New Left," as well as from conservative movements.

But several party tenets appear to be conservative philosophy taken to its ultimate conclusion—particularly the antibureaucracy and freedom of the individual emphasis. Indeed, many members admit they were active in the 1964 presidential campaign of Barry Goldwater.

But Goldwater no longer fills the bill, Bergland says.

"There are many people of a libertarian orientation who think (Ronald) Reagan is the best of a bad lot," Bergland adds. He claims the former California governor's positions on foreign affairs—"he's a tremendous hawk"—and individual liberties are unacceptable.

Still Bergland concedes, the party will probably pick up some of his supporters if Regan fails to win the Republican nomination.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Moved by column to carry kidney card

DEAR ABBY: Today in your column I read a letter from Mrs. R.D. Watt of Bloomington, Ind., whose son, David, was killed in an auto accident. She said her son had carried a signed UNIFORM DONOR CARD issued by the Kidney Foundation stating his wishes to donate his kidneys at death, but because his wallet had not been thoroughly examined at the scene of the accident, and they (his parents) were too grief-stricken at the time to think of it, David's wishes were not carried out.

I want Mrs. Watt to know that after reading her letter I called the Kidney Foundation and requested a donor card so I could be like David Watt, who signed such a card in hopes of saving someone's life.

FEELING BETTER IN YORK, PA.

DEAR FEELING BETTER: Your thoughtful gesture will not only comfort David's parents; there is no telling how many others will be inspired to follow your generous example. Bless you.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I became engaged to a fine young man from Los Angeles. We planned a summer wedding. I was born on a farm in Iowa. My parents sold the farm and are now living in a retirement village near L.A.

My future-in-laws are quite well-to-do and social. My fiancée's mother announced our engagement in two newspapers. I couldn't believe my eyes when I read that I was "the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. So and So and a graduate of the University of Iowa!"

When I asked my fiancée's mother why she did such a thing she said, "I couldn't very well have said you were a former waitress whose father had been a farmer!"

Abby, I'm not ashamed of being a former waitress OR a farmer's daughter. My parents saw the announcement and were humiliated. They think perhaps we should forego plans for a large wedding because his relatives and friends will be asking my father what kind of "doctor" he is and what I majored in in college.

I've always wanted a lovely wedding, but I hate to subject my parents to further humiliation. How can we handle this mess?

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: What mess? Why give up the kind of wedding you want because your fiancée's mother is a liar and a snob? If questioned, tell the truth, and advise your parents to do the same. If there's any humiliation to be suffered, your future mother-in-law will be the one to suffer it.

DEAR ABBY: GRANDMA makes a good point when she criticizes young housewives for buying only TV dinners, frozen chicken pies and boxes of mixes.

My bride use to dish up similar food along with plenty of canned goods. One day I finally said to her, "Honey, why don't you make things from scratch like my mother use to?"

My dutiful wife high-tailed it down to the grocery store, walked up to the proprietor and asked, "Where do you keep the scratch?"

Presidential ponderings

WASHINGTON — The prospect of Ronald Reagan's emergence from the Republican donnybrook at Kansas City as the nominee of his party is being taken with the utmost seriousness by those at the highest level in the administration. Among those who have managed — or mismanaged — President Ford's campaign, there is appropriate handwringing along with recriminations.

Sinatra to wed Marx sister

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A spokesman for Frank Sinatra says the singer has completed plans for his fourth wedding.
Sinatra will marry longtime companion Barbara Marx on Oct. 10 at the Beverly Hills home of actor Kirk Douglas, Lee Solters said Tuesday.
Sinatra was previously married to Nancy Barbato, Ava Gardner and Mia Farrow. The marriage will be the second for Mrs. Marx, the former wife of Zeppo Marx.
Freeman Gosden, the original "Amos" of the "Amos and Andy" radio show, will be Sinatra's best man, Solters said.

TV Viewing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television viewers will have an opportunity in coming months to sample both the funny and the serious sides of entertainer Steve Allen.

Already airing in some cities is a syndicated series of 10 comedy specials which reunites Allen with some of the top comedians who worked on his TV shows over the past 20 years, including Don Knotts, Louis Nye, Bill Dana, Pat Harrington, Tim Conway and Gabe Dell.

Each program in this "Laugh-Back" series runs 90 minutes and features not only new comedy routines with Steve and his chums but also some classic sketches they did on his old shows. Allen resurrected most of the old black and white footage from his own files.

Later this year, Allen's serious side will emerge in "Meeting of Minds," six one-hour programs that he wrote and appears in for the Public Broadcasting Service.

The format provides for discussion of current national and international issues by famous historical figures such as St. Thomas Aquinas, Cleopatra, Thomas Jefferson and President Theodore Roosevelt, based on their written and reported views. The PBS series will present a different foursome in each of the six installments, with Allen serving as moderator.

It's a series he has been nurturing for 16 years despite repeated rebuffs from the networks and other commercial broadcasters who said the idea was admirable but wouldn't draw much of an audience.

Projects of such diverse nature are hardly surprising from Allen, whose abundant creative talents also extend to dramatic acting, playing the piano and writing poetry, novels, plays and songs.

But he is best known as a TV funnymen and talk show host. Allen, in fact, was the first host of "The Tonight Show" on NBC, holding the job from 1953 to 1956. Unfortunately, none of the film from that period will be seen in the new "LaughBack" series.

Allen explained why during an interview in his San Fernando Valley office — "Someone at NBC, upon discovering a few years ago that the network was running short of space in its New Jersey storage warehouse, solved the problem by burning not only my three years of 'The Tonight Show' but just about all the films that NBC had produced from, I think, around 1949 to 1955."

Still, his numerous other shows over the years produced plenty of great routines from which to choose for "LaughBack." In one installment screened to preview the new series, in fact, the old material was funnier by far than the new.

Allen says these two recent forays into the familiar folds of television have done nothing to change his opinion of the medium.

"Economically it's very healthy," he observed. "Creatively it's probably about as bad or as good as it ever was, depending on one's requirements."

"I'm grateful that there are good shows on the air from time to time."

Sponsored by the Ohio Extension Homemakers Council, this special day is being planned to recognize Women and the contribution which they continually make to Ohio.

The keynote speaker, Dr. Betty Siegel, will speak on "The Three Faces of Eve" which surveys the three goals of a woman's life: a self to live with, a purpose to live for and a faith to live by.

Dr. Siegel, Dean of Academic Affairs for continuing Education, University of Florida, specializes in child and adolescent psychology. She has written many articles, served on many professional committees, is listed in Who's Who in American Education, World's Who's Who of Women; and Leaders in Education; has written two books and serves as a consultant on the topics of Early Childhood, The Middle School Child, Humanizing Education, the Economically Disadvantaged Child, the Aged and Continuing Education.

In the afternoon, Mr. Thomas Wetzel II, Director of Public Relations and Development, the Salvation Army of Greater Cleveland will deliver a talk entitled "Silent Eyes" for which he received the George Washington Medal of Honor.

Another highlight of the afternoon program will be the recognition of five Ohio Women who have contributed greatly to their individual fields of endeavor. ## PRESSURE CANNER CHECK JULY 8 and 15

Do you have a pressure canner? How long has it been since you had it checked for accurate pressure? If it has been two years or more call now for an appointment on July 8 or July 15.

The only exception to this check-up is the "dead-weight" regulator used on some canners. These weights "bobble" and release steam to maintain 5, 10 or 15 pounds of pressure. These weights are supposed to remain accurate.

Check all parts, sealing edges, and the general condition of the pressure canner or pressure saucepan. Follow the directions given in the manufacturer's instruction book.

If the canner has a rubber gasket, has it been turned? If the gasket is cracked or hard, replace it.

Is the closure tight? Are sealing edges clean? If movable or removable parts show wear, replace them.

Is the vent for exhausting steam shiny clean and free of deposits?

Can you identify the safety plug? It is usually a composition disc or a metal alloy plug which will melt under too high pressure. Either type should be replaced if it is not in good condition.

Give the canner a thorough cleaning. Use a fine cleansing powder such as whiting, (available at drug store) to remove accumulated deposits. Scour the jar rack and dry it carefully. Pull a string or fine bit of cloth through vents and other small openings to clean them.

When you come for your appointment please bring your entire canner and rack so we can check all the parts if needed. Your instruction book is helpful, but not necessary.

We have purchased a special tester so that checking your canner pressure gauge will only take about 10 minutes of your time. A few models, however, must still be tested with a thermometer on top of the range. This method requires about one hour. These may be left for testing and picked up later.

CANNING UP-DATE

On July 8 and July 15 from 10:00 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. at the Extension Office I hope to answer many of your questions in advance on the proper methods of canning green beans and tomatoes through a short slide presentation and discussion. Use this opportunity to learn the latest techniques in a hurry.

However, ruling does not benefit local residents

EPA mandate to cost city $6,000 per year

An Ohio Environmental Protection Agency mandate will cost the city an estimated $6,000 per year while offering no benefit whatsoever to Washington C.H. residents.

The EPA has requested that the city analyze samples and report on oils, greases, human waste and chemicals in the sewer treatment plant discharge and in Paint Creek.

Failure to comply with the request can result in fines up to $10,000, city council members learned Wednesday night.

Even though the present treatment plant has no facilities to make such tests and a new plant will be in operation within a few years, the EPA is requiring the tests immediately.

Orville Dixon, superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, said the only reasonable course of action for the city was to take the required samples and then send them to an independent laboratory for analysis.

He estimated the cost of a contract of analysis of the samples would cost $500 per month. Samples must be taken from Paint Creek upstream of the plant once each week, three times per week from the plant discharge, and once per week from the creek downstream of the plant.

The tests simply provide the EPA with statistical data and will do nothing to improve the quality of air or water around the plant.

ELECTION certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown from the Fayette County primary ballot were discussed by City Manager George H. Shapter.

He said he was gratified that all three property tax levies were approved by the voters, but warned that no money will be received until 1977.

The city manager also noted that the Fayette County Board of Elections has been notified that petitions seeking repeal of the city income tax and abandonment of the council-manager form of government are now being circulated in Washington C.H.

Notification was filed by Leah Nash, Richard and Joanne Allen, all residing at 401 E. Elm Street.

DRIVEWAY WIDTHS

The ordinance allowing City Council to grant exceptions to the standard driveway widths became effective immediately after passage as an emergency last week. However, the oil company whose request had prompted the legislation has still not been granted relief.

The ordinance requires that anyone proposing to construct driveways in excess of 25 feet wide receive formal approval from Council. A resolution granting such approval for the company was not presented at Wednesday's meeting. Council chairman Joseph O'Brien said he had left it at home.

The firm needs the exemption to cut driveways at a service station under construction at Cedar and Elm Streets.

STREET SALE HALTED

A proposed "truckload sale" conceived by Holthouse Furniture Co., 120 W. Court St., has been prohibited.

The furniture retailer had requested permission to "rent" three parking spaces in front of the store and sell furniture directly from the truck.

Council said state law prohibits sales from state highways, and the city could not endorse such action anyway. Shapter said if the firm was allowed such sales, there would be nothing to prohibit another furniture company from pulling a truck in front of the store and selling in competition with the local firm.

SIDEWALKS REQUIRED

Four property owners with homes on Kathryn Court in the Storybrook Addition will be required to install sidewalks. City regulations state that sidewalks are to be installed in all subdivisions before homes are occupied, but this rule had not been enforced when the homes were constructed.

The present homeowners will be directed to comply as soon as possible. In an effort to see that this situation does not reoccur, Shapter is drafting an agreement to be signed by all developers stating that they will be responsible for sidewalks. It would require a performance bond to insure that they are installed.

He suggests that the signing of such an agreement be a prerequisite for final approval of all subdivision plats.

STOP SIGN REQUEST

In response to a request for replacement of a stop sign on Nelson Place, the city manager noted that Ohio Law outlines criteria under which a such signs can be installed.

He noted that use of stop signs for speed control along streets is strictly prohibited. Whether or not the location in question meets the criteria for installation will be examined, he said.

STREET CLOSING

The Fayette County Ministerial Association requested closing Main

Street from Court to Market Street for an hour July 4.

The association is presenting an outdoor worship service from 11 a.m. to noon on the west lawn of the Courthouse.

MEETING PLACE

Although it was suggested that more suitable accommodations be sought for City Council meetings, members seemed reasonably satisfied with the Fraternal Order of Police building on N. Fayette Street, at least for the summer.

The building is extremely warm, but Council seemed willing to endure the heat. Members said another location should definitely be sought for the winter. They said a noisy furnace and blower would make it difficult to hear during the cold months.

At City Council meeting

Hazardous construction site, soliciting in city discussed

Hazardous conditions at a construction site and soliciting in the city were discussed Wednesday night by Washington C.H. City Council.

During the call to voters and taxpayers, Chester F. Hamulak, 1028 Center St., addressed the hazard of exposed gasoline storage tanks at the corner of Cedar and Elm streets.

A service station is being constructed at the site, and Hamulak said four storage tanks were accessible to youth. He said the tanks were filled with 36,000 gallons of gasoline, presenting a serious fire hazard.

Glenn Tatman, city inspector, said the firm had been contacted about the situation. It will cover the in-ground tanks with three feet of gravel, Tatman said.

Mrs. Joanne Allen, 401 E. Elm St., brought several topics to the attention of Council and requested a great deal of information from city solicitor Gary D. Smith.

First, she noted that, in her opinion, the local news media had been delinquent for not making the public aware that 24-hour written notice was not required before addressing Council. She said she felt most residents thought prior notice was still necessary.

Mrs. Allen then asked what difference there was between one merchant selling at curbside and many merchants holding sidewalk sales during Old Fashioned Bargain Days. Council chairman Joe O'Brien said there was a difference between an organized community sales promotion and an individual merchant. He added that the merchant's immediate request was for sale from the street, not the sidewalk.

The discussion referred to a request from Holthouse furniture for sales from a truck which had been denied by Council.

Told by City Manager George H. Shapter that her recent solicitation for contributions to the Citizens Defense Fund failed to comply with city codes, Mrs. Allen sought further explanation. She asked whether the city code barred requests for merchandise or merely prohibited request for money.

She also asked whether or not signs announcing prohibition of soliciting must be posted at the city limits, and she asked if the restrictions prohibited individuals from seeking donations for flowers for deceased neighbors.

Most of the questions were referred to the city solicitor for investigation. O'Brien said Mrs. Allen was getting "too technical" in her question about donations for flowers. He said he had recently done so himself, and if this was prohibited by ordinance, he would pay the required fine.

She also asked if a license was necessary to circulate petitions for the November general election. She was informed that no license was required for this purpose.

THE CALL to Council brought discussion of vacancies on the police department and the street lighting situation.

Council member Billie Wilson asked whether or not an examination for police candidates had been scheduled. The city manager said they had not.

Shapter said one police dispatcher was already qualified to assume a patrolman's post, but he had not yet been appointed.

The city manager explained that promotion of the dispatcher who is paid by a federal (CETA) grant would have to be paid from city funds if promoted. The city could not fill the dispatcher's position with federal funds because a freeze on CETA hirings has been initiated.

Moving the dispatcher would cost the city some $5,000 this year, he warned. He added that money allocated for the patrolman's salary was being used to pay other officers overtime.

Council member Eddie Fisher made a motion that the street lights be restored immediately using money borrowed against 1977 lighting revenue. The motion was defeated by a 3-2 margin. Wilson also voted in favor of restoring the lights, but Ralph Cook, O'Brien and John Morris were opposed.

Cook noted that he may well favor the move after he has obtained a firm figure on what the street lighting millage will generate annually. This figure is not yet available from the county auditor.

Council members Mrs. Bertha McCullough and James Ward were absent from the meeting.

SIX ORDINANCES were presented before Council. An ordinance regulating parking on private property was approved for its third reading.

It states that persons who own or lease private parking areas may call city police when unauthorized vehicles are in their space. The police are now authorized to issue citations for such parking violations.

Four ordinances were placed on second readings. They were:

—An ordinance to amend a portion of the city income tax. The amendment sets penalties for firms which fail to collect or remit employee income tax.

—An ordinance to vacate unused land allotted for extensions of Wilson and Campbell streets.

—An ordinance regulating use of the municipal waste water system.

—An ordinance outlining licensing procedures for plumbers who wish to tap the city sewer system.

APPROPRIATIONS for the remainder of 1976 from the general fund were presented in an ordinance which was placed on the first reading.

Although the city manager had planned to seek immediate passage as an emergency with a suspension of the three-reading requirement, this was not possible with two members of Council absent.

Another ordinance to authorize continued work on the city traffic signal project was tabled.

Harrises take dual roles as jury selection begins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris took center stage at their trial in dual roles as defendants and lawyers, won warm comments from some prospective jurors and got mixed reviews from the judge.

After quarreling Wednesday with Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler, the two Symbionese Liberation Army members adopted a conciliatory demeanor. A defense lawyer called it "a spirit of detente."

Then the Harrises, charged with kidnapping, robbery and assault, stood separately to question the citizens who may become their jury. In three days of questioning, no jurors have been seated.

"Does the fact that I am representing myself in these proceedings cause any of you to feel uneasy?" asked the 31-year-old Harris.

All 12 prospects seated in the jury box of the bulletproof courtroom shook their heads to indicate no.

"I think it speaks well of you that you know your own mind," said 24-year-old Donald Chavez.

Another prospect, Barbara Oldham, said, "I don't know if I'd want to be my own attorney. But I'd want to input on any decision that affects my life."

Emily Harris, 29, calm and soft-spoken, also questioned prospective jurors. Twice, with panelists absent, she won praise from Brandler for her legal phrasing.

"The suggested question of Mrs. Harris is the better form than the one posed by Mr. Weinglass," the judge declared. Leonard Weinglass, Mrs. Harris' noted counsel, grinned.

The slender Mrs. Harris was pale from eight months in jail but smiled often as she stood at a lectern.

"Would any of you feel any prejudice or hostility based on the fact that I am a woman charged with these offenses?" she asked.

The eight men and four women shook their heads again.

Earlier, Harris had raged over a change in the schedule proposed by the judge and a late-arriving attorney.

"We're here at 10 after eight. We sit chained to our chairs. So don't give me that s---, godyou," Harris shouted at Brandler, who threatened to evict him from court.

Truck, trash fires checked

A fire in a pickup truck and a trash burning were investigated Wednesday by Washington C.H. firemen.

Firemen reported that a fire in a pickup truck belonging to Pearl Bennett, 723 Paint St., occurred at 7:27 p.m. Wednesday when Bennett reportedly poured fuel into the carburetor, and the engine backfired upon ignition.

The fire had burned itself out by the time firemen arrived. Damage to the truck was estimated at $50.

A trash fire on the Marson Davy residence, 1114 Gregg St., was reported to firemen at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday. Davy had extinguished the fire by the time they arrived, firemen said.

Port Clinton, Put-in Bay area

Let's tour Ohio series

Lake Erie in the Port Clinton area has played an important roll in Ohio's history.

Today the historical and the natural attractions of the area make for a fast-moving, fascinating one-day or weekend trip. It isn't possible to mention all the possible activities and sights, but driving through the area, there is a continual barrage. You'll find yourself betwixt and between the lure of this stop and the anticipation of what's down the road.

Seneca Caverns (3) in Bellevue are one of Ohio's largest caverns. Born of ancient earthquakes and glacial action, this is a phenomenal experience. They are open Sunday, May 1 to Nov. 1, daily May 31 through Labor Day. Tours occur hourly on the hour.

The James B. McPherson Memorial (4) is a monument erected to honor the highest ranking officer killed in the Civil War.

At Castalia is the unique Blue Hole (2). This artesian spring is of unknown depths, flowing seven million gallons of water daily. The water is dead. For some reason there is no oxygen in it and until it is aerated by passing it over the falls it will not support life. The huge trout in the waterways surrounding the Blue Hole are a delight to watch and feed.

Lagoon Deer Park (17) offers the opportunity to walk among pet llamas, deer, goats, ride an ancient tortoise and see and feed and play with many other tame animals. There's a nearby grove for picnics, pontoon boat rides on the Blue Lagoon and a feeding dock where you can hand-feed the fish. A unique gift shop features Indian turquoise jewelry, handtooled leather goods and many unusual gifts. Try your luck for rainbows, walleyes, largemouth bass, channel cats and perch. Fishing from 7 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Park hours are April 1 to Memorial Day, and Labor Day through October, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Memorial Day to Labor Day, 9 a.m. until dark. Admission charge.

Port Clinton and the peninsula including Marblehead, Lakeside and Catawba Island is the jumping off place to the islands nearby.

There are regularly scheduled ferry boat rides to South Bass Island, (8). South Bass is a trip in itself. Perry's International Peace Monument is located on the island. One of the finest monuments in the country, it commemorates the Battle of Lake Erie in 1812. From its 352 foot top, it commands a view of the beautiful Lake Erie, U.S. and Canadian shores and Put-in-Bay. Crystal Cave, on the island, has the only deposit of strontium sulfate of any size found in the country. Perry's Cave is of special interest. Tradition claims Perry stored ammunition and cannons in the cave. The "wishing well" with water rising and falling with Lake Erie would indicate that there is subterranean access. Tours from 11-5 daily, May 30 to Labor Day. Crystal Cave tours are conducted from 10-5:30.

The ferry boat can transport your automobile to the island or there are bike rentals available on the island itself, so as you travel you'll conveniently be able to visit the Heineman Winery, for a look at wine making and a tour thru the only white crystal caves in the United States.

Camp Perry, five miles west of Port Clinton on Lake Erie, has one of the largest and best equipped rifle ranges in the world.

Plane service is available from Port Clinton to Middle Bass Island and Kelley Island. Ferry boat service and plane service are available to these islands from other points in the area. For complete information write to Put-In-Bay. There are housekeeping cabins available on the islands for overnight or weekly stays.

Kelleys Island (10) is a summer resort and the center of the grape-growing region. On the southern tip is the State Park and within it the famous Glacial Grooves, the finest example of glacial carvings in America. There are a number of abandoned quarries on the island and it is a fossil hunters paradise.

Eight miles east of Port Clinton is Mystery Hill and the Prehistoric Forest. These astonishing natural illusions seem to defy the laws of nature.

Catawba Island State Park and E. Harbor State Park are in close proximity at Catawba Island and Lakeside, (9) on Marblehead is the largest summer conference grounds in the Middle West. Fort Firelands located on the edge of the Lake offers boating, canoeing, sailing, fishing and other water sports. Bicycle rentals and horseback riding stables are on the premises.

The well-known Cedar Point (7) reached by the toll causeway off U.S. 6, is the lakefront amusement park featuring rides, live shows, four theatres with musical reviews and the Frontier Trail, sponsoring old-time crafts and art demonstrations. An African Safari exhibit has live animals and shows daily. A beach, marina and picnic grounds are also on the premises. Admission charge includes rides. Open May 17 through Labor Day, daily 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

This barely does justice to the activities available in the lake shore regions of the area. But to move away a little, there is still much to see and do in the southeast. In Milan, the Milan Historical Museum (5) contains a collection of dolls, glass, china and guns. Also, there is an authentic blacksmith shop. Open 1-5 Tuesday through Sunday, April 1- Nov. 1, 10-5 in the summer months of June, July and August.

The Thomas Edison Birthplace (6) is excellently preserved. This is a chance to see where Edison spent his first seven years. Open Apr. 1-Dec. 1 Tuesday through Saturday, 9-5, Sunday, 1-5. Admission charge. In February and March, open Friday and Saturday, 9-5 and Sunday, 1-5.

The Firelands Historical Museum (11) is behind the public library in Norwalk on Case Avenue. A Federal-style home built in 1835, the exhibits include collections of firearms, coins, lanterns, costumes, pioneer articles and Indian relics and natural history exhibits that span three floors. Admission charge. Open May, June, Sept. and Oct., Tuesday through Sunday, noon to 5:30.

daily 9-9 except Tuesday.

Oberlin College in Oberlin (13) was founded in 1833 as the first coeducational college in the world. The Conservatory of Music is a three-unit complex designed by Minoru Yamasaki. The visitor information center in Wilder Hall sponsors tours 6 days a week thru the summer.

The Dudley Peter Allen Memorial Art Building (14) on the campus contains representative examples of sculpture, paintings and decorative arts from early Egyptian times to the present. During the summer months it is open Monday through Friday, 10-12 and 2-4; Saturday and Sunday, 1-5. During the school year it is open evenings also.

South of Oberlin in Wellington is the Findley State Park (19) with a large variety of outdoor facilities and activities.

North to Lorain, just west of the uptown section of Lorain is Lakeview Park (16). The park is noted for its fine rose garden, colorfully lighted fountain, a large floral basket and fine beach.

Well worth going out of one's way for is the Great Lakes Historical Society Museum in Vermilion (18). The museum overlooks Lake Erie and tells its history, with a fine collection of ship models, paintings, photographs and marine equipment. Winter hours are 10:30-6 p.m. and summer hours extend until 9.

Your best approach to this tour area from Washington C.H. is to take U.S. 23 north from Columbus to Ohio 4, which is approximately 35 miles north of Delaware, and follow Ohio 4 to Sandusky. From there Port Clinton and other points can be reached by ferry or by driving around the lake on the peninsula.

Mascot escapes cage, but not gun

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A college's mascot tiger sprung from its cage and led sheriff's deputies on a hectic and at times fearsome chase late Wednesday before being felled with a tranquilizer gun and dying in a semirural area east of Zanesville.

The tiger, a 400-pound Bengal which had held forth as mascot of the Tigers athletic teams at Muskingum Area Technical School since 1970, touched off a flurry of mutual terror between itself and onlookers, deputies said, when it bolted from its cage and headed toward a residential area shortly after 5 p.m.

At one point, Deputy Phil Hammer said the declawed tiger, named Monada, sprung to his chest, knocked him down, and ripped away his shirt before another officer fired into the air with his service revolver to frighten it away. Hammer was not injured.

Monada finally was cornered in the residential area after residents poured from their homes to watch, and add to, the excitement.

Hammer, and two other deputies, James Brown and Bill Roberts, said numerous calls were made until a tranquilizer gun was located at police headquarters in nearby New Lexington.

Brown said he fired one shot into the tiger's rear flank, and that New Lexington Police Chief Bill Kirkbride, who had joined deputies at the scene, fired a second after the animal started running in circles. In about 20 minutes, the tiger slipped into an apparent coma and stopped breathing.

Dr. Robert Miller of Zanesville, a veterinarian, said it appeared death may have been caused by an overdose of tranquilizer but that he had no way of knowing. The animal's remains were taken to Ohio State University in Columbus pending a decision by owners as to whether to have an autopsy. Monada was purchased by a school official after being born in captivity in Dallas, Texas, in November 1970, school officials said. Students took turns feeding and caring for their friend after raising him from a cub with a bottle.

They said he had been taken to county fairs and been used in parades all around the state without incident.

Although there was speculation the two tranquilizer injections were an overdose, Kirkbride said each of the shots was designed to immobilize a 95-pound animal, much less than what it should have taken to amount to an overdose.

John A. Bingham, 1815-1900, a native of Cadiz, Ohio, congressman and later minister to Japan, played important roles in the prosecution of the assassins of President Lincoln as well as the impeachment of President Johnson.

'We're moving' president says

Area growth noted at Chamber dinner

Growth of the Washington C.H. area over the past five years was noted at the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce's 15th annual meeting and banquet held Wednesday night in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

James F. Ward, outgoing Chamber of Commerce president, told the more than 200 persons in attendance that industrial growth in the Washington C.H. area has increased 57 per cent, while retail growth has risen 54 per cent.

"We're moving and that's a fact," Ward said.

Perhaps the largest period of expansion was in 1975 when nearly $20 million in business and industrial growth added at least 14 new restaurants and shopping stores to the community.

Ward, manager of the French Hardware Store in Washington C.H., also said that the Chamber of Commerce is growing as it now has a total of 440 members, an increase over last year.

"Not everything I had planned happened," Ward said in pointing out that the Chamber year began July 1 and on Sept. 1 the organization's executive vice president resigned.

He applauded the work of Richard F. Kilian, who was employed Dec. 1 as the Chamber's executive vice president.

Glenn R. Hemsworth, who succeeds Ward as president of the Chamber of Commerce, was unable to attend the meeting because of a corporate business meeting in Columbus.

Other new officers for the 1976-1977 year introduced were John Lachat, first vice president; James Polk, second vice president, and Ronald Warner, treasurer.

Directors are William Autrey, Dale Willis, Hugh Wilson, Harold Thompson, Willis Geyer, Bill Mathison, Ora Burdge, Ms. Shirley Fenner, Edwin M. Nestor, Don Kirk, Rick Stinson, George Arnold, Don Bailey and Larry Lehman.

Retiring directors recognized were Jack Brennan, Paul Johnson and John Rhoad, whose three-year terms expired, and John Gruber, John H. Roszmann and David Ogan, who were one-year appointees.

A "golden age president's group" established this year was recognized by Ward.

Past presidents in the "golden age" group (with years served in parentheses) recognized were Fred Rost (1941-1942), Alfred Weatherly (1949-1950), Joseph Peters (1950-1951 and 1951-1952), Robert Terhune (1954-1955), Charles Reinke (1955-1956), Walter Morrow (1957-1958 and 1958-1959) and Walter F. Rettig (1959-1960).

Lachat served as master of ceremonies and introduced guests and the featured speaker, and the Rev. Dr. Leroy Davis, pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, delivered the benediction.

Community Ed. report

By HANK SHAFFER
Program Director

Community Education is right in the swing of things with all of its summer activities having started or are going to start very soon. This week the summer recreation program has started at the playgrounds and parks around the city. Even though it has rained frequently during the days, a good number of kids have shown up to participate in the program. For more information about specific activities going on in the park next week, please feel free to call the Community Education office.

Community Education is also starting a number of leagues through the operation of the summer program for the City Recreation Board. If there is enough interest, there will be leagues in men's basketball, men's women's and mixed volleyball, and Men's and mixed tennis. If you would like to participate in any of these leagues call the above number so we know of your interest.

Community Education is sponsoring a number of activities itself. Starting on June 29, Community Education will start a gymnastics camp. It will be for eight weeks each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday morning for an hour. Donova Stickley will instruct the children in tumbling, trampoline, balance beam and a number of gymnastics related activities. The price is

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE
AREA

$13 for the 24 hours of instruction.

Next Thursday, Community Education will start its golf lessons. They will meet on Thursday nights at the Washington Senior High School for six weeks. The basics of the game will be taught and the price for the lessons will be $4.50.

Tennis lessons are still being planned. They will start in the middle of July and more information will be given later.

Those youngsters planning to march in the parade that the drill team is participating in this Saturday are supposed to meet at the Washington Middle School at 8:45 a.m.

Welfare gardens set aside in Ohio

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ten acres of Summit County have been set aside for welfare recipients whose general relief payments recently have been discontinued. County commissioners hope the land will be used for food gardens.

The commissioners discontinued the payments last month to about 4,000 persons because of lack of funds. A county judge upheld the decision over a challenge by a group seeking to continue the payments.

The land being offered by the county is around the former county home for the poor.

"I'll even get out and help them farm it," said commissioner Don M. Stephens. "My own personal garden grows more than I can use. I'll make sure it goes to somebody."

Most of the 440 acres of the county home land is leased to farmers, is used

The Black Laws of Ohio were repealed by the 1848-1849 session of the Legislature. The laws prohibited settlement of blacks unless they could show a certificate of their freedom and provide freeholders to give security for their good behavior. The laws excluded blacks from the common schools, and prohibited blacks from being sworn or allowed to give testimony in any court in any case where a white person was concerned. The repeal legislation provided schools for black children.

One of the representatives of the group that fought the halt in financial aid, Dale Miller, said he was sure he could "get some assistance in plowing the land, turning the soil and planting the seed."

"Our greatest need will be for seeds and plants," Miller said, keeping in mind the latest of the season for starting a garden from scratch.

"The biggest problem with these people," Miller added, "is that they are primarily city folks."

New manager named at Kroger Co. store

Walter Dryden, vice president of the Kroger Co. Columbus marketing area, has announced the assignment of a new manager for the Kroger Co. store on Clinton Avenue.

David Amstutz, of 741 Dayton Ave., has assumed the position of manager at the local store. He replaces Charles R. Edwards, 1067 Spring Lake Road.

Completing his management trainee program in July of 1969, Amstutz soon became a co-manager, Dryden stated. Amstutz came to Washington C.H. after serving as a store manager of a Kroger Co. store in Wheelersburg.

Previous to the co-manager's position, he had served with three Kroger stores in Columbus, and one in Lancaster.

The 29-year-old Amstutz, who says he is particularly impressed with the rich farmland of Fayette County. His hobbies include bowling, hunting, and fishing.

Amstutz and his wife, Luana, have two sons, Matt, 7, and Brad, 6.

Paul Revere to be married July 4

KINGS MILLS, Ohio — One of the most unusual bicentennial celebrations in America on July 4th will take place at Kings Island family entertainment center when Paul Revere is married to Sandra Campbell in front of the American Heritage Music Hall, by none other than Uncle Sam.

Revere, leader of the 16 year-old musical group, Paul Revere and The Raiders, said he met Miss Campbell on July 4, 1971 in Las Vegas when she was a contestant for the "Miss Nevada" title.

"That's why we chose the date for our wedding", he explained. "When Kings Island asked the band to play two concerts on July 4 this year, I agreed, on the condition that Sandy and I could also be married there."

The Rev. Gene Skipworth, pastor of the Forest Park United Methodist Church in Cincinnati will perform the ceremony in an authentic Uncle Sam outfit.

Revere, (and that's his real name), will be authentically costumed in an early American tuxedo, while Miss Campbell will wear a period gown that was worn by Raquel Welch in the movie, "The Three Musketeers."

Members of the band will be dressed in their American Revolutionary uniforms, a trademark since the group's inception in 1960.

Miss Campbell formerly resided in Lebanon, Ohio, a historical town 10 miles from Kings Island. Members of her family still live in the area and will be present at the wedding.

Revere and his fiancée share the same birthday, January 7, and both formerly operated beauty salons.

The Raiders were the first rock group to be signed with Columbia Records. They have sold nearly 50 million records in the past 16 years.

In the summer of 1971 the Raiders' recording of "Indian Reservation" sold nearly three million singles, making it the biggest selling record for Columbia in 10 years.

The group has also done numerous television shows, including an ABC-TV series, "Happening '68" and "Happening '69".

The concerts at Kings Island on July 4 will take place in the industrial picnic grove at 5 and 8 p.m. The wedding is scheduled for 1 p.m.

A spectacular display of fireworks will climax the park's bicentennial celebration at 10 p.m.

Cope with crisis by anticipating nature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An upcoming crisis can't be foretold but its nature should be anticipated, advises former social worker Juanita Furuta. That advice is her formula for coping with troubles when they arise.

"Regardless of lifestyle, economic or social status, there are certain problems we all face. You can mentally prepare yourself so knowing what to do is an automatic response," she says.

Mrs. Furuta recently conducted a crisis anticipation workshop and offered these steps in preparing for unforeseen troubles:

—Tell yourself you eventually will have to deal with a crisis—the death of a loved one, job loss, terminal illness or injury.

—Tell yourself before trouble happens that you can cope. Prepare yourself not to fall apart. "You tuck these things away in the back of your mind and when something happens, they come to you and you're able to put them to use," Mrs. Furuta says.

—Especially useful in crisis times are the multitude of social agencies available to help those caught in an insoluble jam.

She explains thousands of dollars are dumped into these community agencies, but their potential services are underused.

Mrs. Furuta, an Ohio State University graduate who worked for a Franklin County crisis intervention agency, offers this personal story of a crisis and how preparation helped her handle it.

On a Texas ranch a horse kicked her young son in the face. She says she didn't panic. She simply notified her husband and a local hospital and rushed the child there for emergency treatment.

"After it was over, I was physically and emotionally exhausted," she recalls, "but I knew exactly what to do at the time."

New home prices down $2,000

NEW YORK (AP) — In case you missed the original announcement, it should be recorded that in May the average purchase price of a new single-family home fell to $46,300, a drop of $2,200 from the record-high price a month earlier.

It is understandable that you might believe those figures to be the result of a typographical gremlin, but they are not. It is possible too that they are another of those well-known statistical flukes, but maybe not.

The fact is that there are some solid reasons why the prices of some new homes might have dropped. Some are smaller editions, many are minus the refinements of a year ago. And some sellers have been having problems.

This latter cannot be ignored; if you think you've had troubles in buying a house your local builder can reduce you to tears with his frustrations in trying to sell a house, even at a miniscule profit.

So what do we deduce from this latest news? That it pays to wait? If you so conclude you are battling the odds. You might very well find yourself in the same trap that snared many young householders of the 1960s, who were convinced that housing prices would stabilize.

Well, they did, for a while. But while housing prices were stable, and only briefly, interest rates rose. And they rose and rose, fully 50 per cent in 10 years. And they were still rising, as of May.

Housing prices weren't stable for long either. They too rose and rose, doubling in about 10 years and leaving those who waited holding in their fist a down payment that grew less and less adequate.

Although nobody can say the next 10 years will be a repetition of the past 10, and despite the recent good news, the trend is still upward for both purchase price and financing. What happened in May isn't likely to be repeated.

Price for land, materials and labor are ascending. Many areas are imposing costly building limitations in order to preserve the purity of their water. Operating costs are rising too. Will there be a technological breakthrough that might lower costs? Attempts so far have yet to prove themselves as permanent or broadly acceptable, and many have failed.

Remember the factory house? It's still being produced and the quality is good. But mass production hasn't really caught on; the industry is still largely one of small stick builders operating locally.

The no-frill house? Promising. But some builders maintain they really can't produce a quality house by stripping away distinctive features and then manage to sell at a profit. Still, it continues to offer limited hope.

Mobile homes? Possibilities. But shipments of these units, which had surged to one-half million units several years ago are now back to one-half that, although rising again. Bears watching.

Kissinger peddles majority rule view

GRAFENAU, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger completed two days of talks on U.S. support for majority rule in southern Africa with Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa today with no announced concrete results.

"The prime minister on his part will give further thought to what was discussed in these two days and the secretary of state will report to the President," Robert L. Funseth, the U.S. spokesman, told reporters.

"They will keep in touch and follow up on these matters."

Kissinger and Vorster were alone for an hour and a half in Kissinger's hotel here in the rolling Bavarian countryside. They then were joined for another hour by members of their delegations, including South African Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller and William E. Schauefele Jr., the U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Kissinger has said he is seeking a way with Vorster to avoid a "racial war" in southern Africa. This involves pressing for negotiations for a black takeover in Rhodesia, supporting self-determination in the territory of South-West Africa, or Namibia, and, evidently, urging Vorster to move toward majority rule in his own country.

Kissinger said after their first four-hour meeting Wednesday that he and Vorster had a "very full review of the situation in southern Africa," and "we indicated the direction which we think things should move."

"Obviously, no conclusions could be reached," Kissinger said.

There was no comment from Vorster.

Kissinger is trying to get Vorster to steer Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith into new talks with Rhodesian black nationalist leaders. He emphasized that the United States is not backing away from its support for a negotiated settlement.

The first state fair was held in Cincinnati Sept. 11-13, 1850.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, asking Congress to restrict busing as a means of desegregating public schools, is expected to urge legislation that would limit the duration of busing programs and narrow the cases where courts can order busing.

As part of his plan, the President today is expected to ask Congress to declare that judges can order busing only to correct segregation caused by official governmental action, such as the work of a school board.

White House officials said the measure will stress the difference between segregation caused by acts of government officials and segregation caused by other reasons such as neighborhood housing patterns.

Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi indicated last week that the bill might also seek a time limit of three years for such busing.

After that time, if busing is still deemed to be necessary, it could be continued for two more years. After five years, the busing could be halted if it were determined the community made a good faith effort to achieve desegregation.

Busing has become an emotional issue in this campaign year, and Ford promised in a speech in Indianapolis on Tuesday that his bill would limit "the massive busing of our school children."

He said then that the measure "will minimize court-ordered busing and will provide a means and method to help local authorities in trying to handle the problem at the local level."

The President declared that some federal courts have intruded so far into the busing controversy "that they are practically running our school boards."

Civil rights leaders have attacked Ford's intention to restrict busing, saying his plan would only encourage people to violate the law.

The House Republican leader, John Rhodes of Arizona, said Wednesday after a White House briefing that "this bill will tend to quiet dissension rather than cause more."

U.S. attacked for veto use

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States came under heavy attack from Third World and Communist nations Wednesday night for vetoing Angola's application for membership in the United Nations.

The United States cast its 15th veto in the Security Council to kill a resolution recommending that the former Portuguese African colony become the 145th member of the world organization.

The council vote was 13-1. China did not participate, saying it is "firmly against providing the Soviet Union a pretext to prolong its interference" in Angola.

U.S. Ambassador Albert W. Sherer Jr. told the council the United States opposed Angola's entry because of the "continuing presence and apparent influence" of the estimated 12,000 to 15,000 Cuban troops in the former Portuguese colony.

"There is no justification for such a large armed foreign presence in a truly independent African state," he said.

However, it was generally understood that the United States vetoed the application because President Ford did not want to give Ronald Reagan more ammunition to use in their fight for the Republican presidential nomination. Sherer in effect confirmed this when he said his government would have acted differently had the Angolans heeded U.S. urging to delay their application until "a more propitious time."

U.S. delegates had pressed the Marxist Angolan government to postpone its membership request until after the Republican convention in mid-August.

A string of Third World and Communist representatives took the floor after the vote to denounce the U.S. action.

Ambassador Salim A. Salim of Tanzania, who tried to work out a compromise, asserted that the veto was "politically unjust, legally untenable and morally unsound."

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik, whose government has used the veto 110 times, often to block admission of new members, termed the U.S. vote "the most flagrant misuse of the veto power."

Richard Alarcon de Quesada of Cuba accused the United States of hypocrisy in protesting the Cuban presence in Angola while U.S. troops "roam around the world from the Caribbean to the Pacific, from the Far East to Western Europe."

The Cuban troops, he said, will remain in Angola until the Angolan army is organized, equipped and trained to defend the country, "not a day more and not a day less."

Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security officials and hospitals reported the Lebanese civil war's heaviest 24-hour casualty toll in weeks as Palestinian guerrillas and their leftist Lebanese allies claimed they drove back four major Christian tank assaults in eastern Beirut.

Nearly 140 dead and hundreds of wounded were reported Wednesday night. The Palestinians said it was "one of the heaviest battles of the war."

The combined Palestinian-Lebanese command said 5,000 Christian militiamen with more than 100 tanks and armored cars attacked the hilltop Palestinian refugee camps of Tal Zaatar and Jisr el-Basha.

They are the last major Palestinian positions between Christian-held eastern Beirut and the Christian coastal enclave north of the city.

The Christians claimed the Palestinians, not they, were the aggressors. "We are taking necessary retaliatory measures," they said.

The two camps overlook several major roads out of eastern Beirut. Despite the hard fighting on the eastern side of the city, Syrian and Libyan troops assigned to the new Arab League peace-keeping force reopened the Beirut airport south of the city Wednesday, and Lebanon's Middle East Airlines said it would resume regular flights in and out of the country today.

One of the line's jetliners landed Wednesday with 10 passengers aboard and took off half an hour later with 20 passengers. It was the first plane to land since June 6, when Syrian invasion troops and guerrillas of the Syrian-controlled Saiga Palestinian organization closed the airport.

The Syrian troops who invaded Lebanon on June 1 to prevent a Palestinian-leftist victory were reported beginning to withdraw from the Beirut and Sidon areas back into eastern Lebanon. A spokesman for the Lebanese Arab Army, made up of Moslem deserters from the Lebanese army, said the withdrawal would be completed by Friday.

But the Palestinian-Lebanese

command was suspicious since most of the 1,000 peace-keeping troops that arrived Monday were Syrians. Mahmoud Riad, the secretary-general of the Arab League, said he had asked for a Sudanese contingent to be sent to Beirut. Local newspaper reports said Somali and Saudi Arabian troops were on the way.

The prime ministers of Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait met in Riyadh, the Saudi capital, to try to mend the rift between Egypt and Syria and to seek a solution to the Lebanese civil war, the Saudi state radio reported.

Parades, protests, Frisbee flinging part of 200th hoopla

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

Only in America would they celebrate the national Bicentennial with a day-long protest rally and concert, the biggest fireworks, the longest parade and 200 people flinging Frisbees off a hill.

And that's only a small part of the program for this Fourth of July when the United States turns 200 years old. There's also greased pig chasing, bell ringing, pow wows, a 1,776-yard footrace and a 400,000-slice birthday cake.

Since there is no world's fair, like the one they had in 1876, and no national focus for the celebration, local folks across the land have come up with ideas of their own. Some must have the founding fathers giggling in their graves.

There will be properly solemn official ceremonies, of course, beginning with prayer services in Washington and other cities, and centering around a commemorative program in Philadelphia where the Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776.

The activities of national interest begin July 2, the 200th anniversary of the day the Continental Congress actually voted independence from Britain for the 13 American colonies.

President Ford will go to the National Archives that evening to view the Declaration and deliver a speech.

The festivities begin July 3 with the American Bicentennial Grand Parade down Washington's Constitution Avenue, led by Vice President and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller. In the evening the President will attend an "Honor America" entertainment salute to America at the Kennedy Center.

Bicentennial Sunday will dawn on sunrise religious services at the Lincoln Memorial sponsored by the downtown churches of Washington. President Ford will begin his busy schedule by attending services at an area church.

From Washington, Ford will fly to Valley Forge, Pa., where he will join activities which include the encampment of 100 covered wagons which have crossed the country in the Bicentennial Wagon Train Pilgrimage. He also is expected to sign legislation making Valley Forge a national park.

The President also will attend the National Bicentennial Program at Independence Hall in Philadelphia which will include a reading of the Declaration and the usual patriotic speeches.

Actor Charlton Heston is expected to be master of ceremonies and Frank Sinatra to sing the national anthem. Then one of the major parades of the day follows the ceremonies, running for six or seven hours.

In midafternoon Ford will have moved on to New York where he will view more than 200 sailing vessels, including nearly all of the world's few remaining tall-masted ships, parading up the Hudson River.

In Boston, first city of the Revolution, they'll be doing it the way they have every year since 1782 with a parade, flag raising and reading of the Declaration.

Meanwhile, back in Washington, a program of music, speeches and fireworks will run from daybreak to midnight on the capital's Mall area, featuring big name entertainers and politicians.

At 8 a.m., following the sunrise service, there will be a second interfaith religious program, this one at the Jefferson Memorial.

Then the Peoples Bicentennial Commission, a leftist group which has been protesting official plans for celebrating the occasion, will begin a march in support of "a Declaration of Independence from Big Business."

The PBC will follow its march with a rally on the Mall featuring Jane Fonda and Dr. Benjamin Spock. But this will shortly evolve into an all-day celebrity appearance and entertainment extravaganza spotlighting singers Don McLean, Peter Yaro of the former Peter, Paul and Mary group, John Stewart, formerly of the Kingston Trio, and various rock performers.

At the same time, on another quarter of the Mall, the annual Festival of America folklife will be in full swing to the tune of fiddle music and tom toms. And sometime during the day, the Centennial Safe, a sort of time capsule sealed in 1876, will be opened at the Capitol. Congress also planned to serve punch and cookies to the public during the afternoon on the East Front steps of the Capitol.

At 2 p.m., supposedly the exact moment the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia announced the Declaration of Independence, the bell will be tolled again and answered by simultaneous ringing of bells all across America.

Also going on across America will be local celebrations including that 1,776-yard race at a high school in Alexandria, Va., George Washington's home town.

Up in Sitka, Alaska, they'll have their own July 4th parade along with the treefelling, topping, climbing, log rolling, axe throwing championships and square dancing.

And in Seward, Alaska, the 4th will be celebrated with a foot race 3,000 feet up Shale Mountain, around a flag pole on the top and back to town.

Across the continent they'll be raising Liberty poles in Milford, Conn., and Derry, N.H., where celebrants also will roast an ox.

In Ada, Okla., they'll chase greased pigs at the all-day picnic. There's a hog-calling contest in New Philadelphia, Ohio, a horse race down Main Street in Lexington, Ky., and a Pony Express ride from Sacramento, Calif., to the Nevada state line.

Biloxi, Miss., will have hot air balloon races and Hanibal, Mo., its Mark Twain Days, with raft races, fence painting and frog jumping. And Cairo, Ga., will hold the Grady County Marbles competition.

New Orleans, of course, will feature jazz all day on the 4th after a Mardi Gras-style parade which begins on the 3rd and ends up after midnight in the Superdome.

Not to be outdone by the mainlanders, American Samoa will include copra-cutting and spear-chucking contests with the usual parades and speeches.

Cincy police chief trial sent to jury

By ANDY LIPPMAN

Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) —

The case against suspended Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin and two other police officers is scheduled to go to the jury today after the final day of testimony included two city officials questioning the chief's honesty.

The Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury Wednesday heard Deputy City Manager Henry Sandman and Safety Director Richard Castellini both question the honesty and truthfulness of Goodin, on trial for perjury and tampering with evidence.

Goodin was the focal point during the final day of often-interrupted testimony in the trial, which is in its second week. The police chief is accused along with Lt. Richard Beyer, charged with perjury and tampering with evidence, and James Simon, accused of perjury.

All three men were indicted by a special grand jury last December. Sandman, under questioning by Prosecutor Simon Leis, said he had considered the suspended police chief to be a good man and a good administrator "until late November of last year."

At that point in the testimony, there was an objection by Goodin's attorneys and a 1½ hour conference was held in Judge Gilbert Bettman's chambers. After the conference, Leis again asked Sandman's opinion after December 1975 of Goodin's "truth and veracity."

"I'm sorry to say, but it's bad," Sandman said.

Castellini answered Leis' question about the suspended chief's honesty and truthfulness by saying, "I'm sorry to say, it's poor."

Both men disagreed with an recollection by Goodin of a breakfast meeting in which Castellini, Sandman and the police chief took part.

Both Sandman and Castellini recalled that Goodin had bristled at a suggestion that the vice squad should be transferred.

Rose error gives Phillies win

Allen, Phil's top Reds

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Life among the Philadelphia Phillies is finally agreeing with Dick Allen. The Phils are running away with the National League East and the sometimes moody, controversial Allen is thoroughly enjoying the trip.

"This is really fun," said Allen after Philadelphia dumped Cincinnati 4-2 Wednesday night. "Whether I'm 0-for-12 or 0-for 1,200, I'm having fun."

"I'd pay to watch a playoff between these two teams ... and I can't stand to watch baseball."

Allen, in his second go-round with Philadelphia after turbulent stints with St. Louis, Los Angeles and the Chicago White Sox, has got his batting average up to .286 and is regaining the earlier form that made him one of the game's most feared sluggers.

He got the Phils' winning rally going in the ninth with a leadoff double and took third on an infield out. After a walk, pinch-hitter Bob Boone grounded to third and Pete Rose bounced his throw off first baseman Tony Perez' chest, allowing Allen to score the tie-breaking run. Dave Cash singled in an insurance run as Philadelphia beat the NL West leaders for the fifth time in seven games this season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles blanked Houston 1-0, San Francisco beat San Diego twice, 7-6 and 8-7, Atlanta swept a doubleheader from Montreal, 5-2 and 3-0, the New York Mets edged St. Louis 5-4 and the Chicago Cubs shaded Pittsburgh 6-5.

Until Rose's throwing error in the ninth, the Phils and Reds had battled on even terms. Mike Schmidt clubbed his 20th homer of the year for a 1-0 Philly lead in the fourth, then Johnny Bench tied it for the Reds in the bottom of the inning with a sacrifice fly.

Cincinnati went on top 2-1 on George

Foster's homer in the sixth, his 16th, then the Phils got even in the seventh when Allen got aboard on a forceout and came around on Jay Johnstone's double and a groundout. Ron Reed, 6-2 was the winner and Pedro Borbon, 0-1, the loser, both in relief.

Dodgers 1, Astros 0

Rick Rhoden, 6-0, fired a three-hitter to outfielder J.R. Richard, 7-8, who allowed just two hits through eight innings. Rhoden scored the game's only run in the sixth when he singled, raced to third on Bill Buckner's double and scampered home on a sacrifice fly by Ted Sizemore.

Giants 7-8, Padres 6-7

Newly-acquired Darrell Evans belted a two-run homer and a triple in the first game and clubbed a grand slam homer in the nightcap for San Francisco. The Padres had 31 hits to 17 for the Giants in the doubleheader, but San Francisco made theirs count more. Gary Thomasson hit a three-run homer for San Francisco in the opener and Bobby Murcer had a three-run shot in the second game.

Braves 5-3, Expos 2-0

Andy Messersmith and Phil Niekro turned in a pair of sparkling efforts for Atlanta. Messersmith, 7-5, continued to pay dividends on his million-dollar contract with a five-hitter and a two-run single in the opener. Niekro, 6-4, tossed a four-hitter and struck out 10 batters in the nightcap.

Atlanta outfielder Rowland Office collected base hits in both games to extend his hitting streak to 29 games, just eight short of the NL record of 37 set by Tommy Holmes in 1945 with the Boston Braves.

Mets 5, Cardinals 4

Jerry Grote's leadoff home run in the ninth enabled New York to break a four-game losing streak. It was Grote's first hit in his last 24 at-bats. Tom Seaver, 8-5, bested Pete Falcone, 5-6, with an 11-strikeout performance. Del Unser homered for the Mets and Joe Ferguson hit one for St. Louis.

Cubs 6, Pirates 5

A throwing error by Bob Moose in the ninth inning, the fifth Pittsburgh error of the game, allowed the winning run to score as Chicago snapped a four-game losing streak. Willie Stargell and Dave Parker hit home runs for the Pirates. Only one of Chicago's runs was earned.

A scheduled second game was postponed by darkness with Pittsburgh leading 2-0 after four innings. It will be replayed from the start at an undetermined future date.

Little League

In Little League action, the Mustangers downed the Levi-Boys 11-9. Harris hit the only homerun on the game for the Mustangers. Craig, Smith, Mercer, and Bonecutter all had doubles.

The Mustangers broke a sixth inning tie with two runs to give M. Craig the win while Thomas took the loss. Craig struck out seven Levi batters while Thomas struck out ten.

MUSTANGERS 530 102-11 8 5
LEVI-BOYS 112 320-9 10 8

The Jets came up with six runs in the fifth inning to pound the Flashes 9-3. Jones doubled and Hart tripled for the Jets.

Dugan and Nance combined on the mound for the Flashes with Dugan suffering the loss. Cox went all the way for the Jets allowing only four hits and striking out 10.

FLASHES 002 10-3 4
JETS 201 06-9 8

In minor league play, K of C downed Sagars 14-8, and the Jr. Fireman came up with a big seven run rally in the bottom of the sixth to edge Bumgarners 10-9.

Church League

In a late report on Church League action, the Jeffersonville Church of Christ pounded the Gregg St. Church of Christ 19-4. Bill Creamer had two home runs in the game, Ben Allen had one.

Dick Hughes picked up the win for Jeffersonville. Gary Dunn took the loss.

Youth league action

In Fayette Youth League action, Wendy's stomped the Industrials 18-6. Phillips, Tyree, and Byrd homered in that game. Dan Dean was the winning pitcher while Clay took the loss.

The Drummers pounded the Elks 9-3. Mark Jones and Jerry Brickets hit the only homeruns. Burke was the winning pitcher for the Drummers. Henry took the loss.

VFW flew past the Eagles 7-3. Hollar and Ackley hit two homers for VFW. Hollar was the winning pitcher and he handed Upthegrove the loss.

Babe Ruth results

Girtons, who have been undefeated so far this year were upset by Craigs in a 6-3 ballgame. Tom Dean delivered a fine pitching performance for Craig's allowing only eight hits.

The key to the Craigs victory which moved their record to seven and one and gave them first place, was their outstanding defense. Mike Eddlemon played a strong game at short stop. Catcher Dave Hennessy threw out three Girton runners as they attempted to steal.

Girtons moved out to an early three run lead before Craigs went to work. Dee Foster was three for three and Dennis Dunn was two for three.

Culley and Riley were on the mound for Girtons and took the loss.

Bobby Orr set to make Chicago debut

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Orr is scheduled to make his Chicago debut today and, in a public ceremony, sign a contract making him the newest Black Hawk and the team's first superstar since Bobby Hull left the National Hockey League team for the World Hockey Association.

Orr, 28, and the Black Hawks reportedly have agreed on a $3-million, multi-year pact even though the former Boston Bruin defenseman has undergone five operations on his left knee.

SECOND UNEARNED RUN — Hillsboro first baseman Taylor scores the second of five unearned runs in the third inning as Post 25 catcher John Bakenhester is unable to handle the ball.

Unearned runs plague legion

In a game that saw six unearned runs, Hillsboro defeated Post 25 5-1. Miscues on both sides accounted for all the scoring plays.

Courthouse got their only unearned run in the first when Coe singled and Conner was safe on a fielder's choice. Fisher and Elliott both reached base safely with the help of two Hillsboro errors while Conner came home on the errors with Post 25's only run.

Hillsboro scored all five of their unearned runs in the third after pitcher Jeff Elliott had retired two batters.

Comer was safe for Hillsboro on an error and later scored on an error. Taylor walked and also later scored on an error. Hauke also was safe on an error and later scored on a base hit.

Davis reached first on a base hit and he also scored on an error. Larrimer got an easy trip around the bases as he singled and went for a double. He went to third on an error and then came home as the throw to third went into the Post dugout.

After walking Sanders, Post 25 finally got the third out as Woods flew out to center. The result of the disastrous third inning, five runs on one hit and six errors.

Woods was the winning pitcher allowing only the one unearned run on five hits. He struck out six. Elliott took the loss, giving up the five unearned runs in the third. Hillsboro managed nine hits off Elliott who struck out four.

Morgan on bench worries many

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan has found himself on the bench more often than usual this season, and there's some question who's more upset—Morgan or his teammates. "I can't sit still on the bench," said the 1975 Most Valuable Player who has been fighting injuries much of the season. "If I sit I get involved in the game. I gotta yell and the guys get mad."

Morgan has been in and out of the lineup since mid-May, when New York Mets shortstop Bud Harrelson accidentally kneed him in the head at second base during a stolen base attempt. Morgan said he had to twist his body unnaturally on the play, causing a strained muscle in his back.

"I can do everything except swing the bat well," he said. "If it were September, I'd play every day. Or if we didn't have Doug Flynn, I'd play. But he's getting three hits every day."

Flynn, a reserve infielder, is hitting over .300, while seeing much more action than last year, when he batted .268 as a rookie.

Morgan, who currently leads the All-Star voting, isn't happy on the bench but has a philosophical attitude about the injury.

"I don't get nagging injuries because I always loosen up," he said. "But I've been stealing bases for 12 years and this is the first time I've ever been hurt stealing a base."

"People don't realize that stealing a base is the most dangerous play in the game," he added.

So far, Morgan has missed 11 games entirely and served only as a pinch-hitter or pinch-runner in several others. He has about 90 less at-bats than Pete Rose, who hasn't missed a game in over two years.

Mike Marshall switches uniforms

ATLANTA (AP) — "We're after Cincinnati and when you go after the Reds you have to go for the best in the game," said Atlanta Braves General Manager John Alevizos, explaining his newest acquisition, reliever Mike Marshall.

"Marshall was my prime objective," Alevizos said Wednesday night, shortly after obtaining the 33-year-old right-hander from the Los Angeles Dodgers. "I consider him one of the premier relievers in baseball."

The Braves also sold relief pitcher Elias Sosa and infielder Lee Lacy to the Dodgers.

Marshall, a veteran of nine big league seasons and winner of the 1974 Cy Young Award when he pitched in 106 games for the Dodgers — winning 15 games and losing 12 with an earned run average of 2.42 — came to the Braves in a straight waiver deal, not a trade, which cost Atlanta $20,000, Alevizos said.

"I spoke to Mike in Houston and the first thing he asked me was, 'Where are you tomorrow?' I told him we're in Atlanta and he said, 'I'll be there.'"

"I told him, 'With that kind of spirit, I'll meet you at the airport.' If I'd have known he was that kind of guy, I'd have doubled my efforts to get him," Alevizos added.

Marshall, contacted in Houston where the Dodgers were playing the Astros, said: "A trade is something that should be accepted by any player. Players and fans should accept the fact that players are sold and traded with little concern for the players' wishes ... but that is the owners' prerogative."

"But I don't think a player should be blamed for trying to shape his own destiny," Marshall continued. "That's an aspect of free enterprise."

"There is nothing physically wrong with me and hopefully I can get all the work I want there," he said.

Dodgers Manager Walt Alton said Marshall indicated no hard feelings when told of the trade.

"I never had any problems with Mike," Alton said. "He has always given 100 per cent. I used him when I had to and I didn't use him when I didn't need to, just like any other player. I feel he can still pitch."

"We gave up a lot, but we got a lot," said Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol, whose club is virtually brand new from one that finished 40½ games behind the Reds last season.

Atlanta is currently 30-37 after winning seven of its last eight games and is 11½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League West.

Marshall was 4-3 this season in 30 appearances. He had eight saves and a 4.45 ERA but had been used sparingly of late with the emergence of Charlie Hough in the Los Angeles bullpen.

Sosa was 4-4 in 35 1-3 innings and his ERA was 5.40. Lacy was hitting .272 with three home runs and 20 runs batted in.

Baseball to return to Washington courts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley will soon have their monumental hassle aired in the halls of Congress in addition to the courts and news media.

Finley shocked the sports world June 15 by holding a clearance sale of players who led the A's to three world championships. He handed pitcher Rollie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million apiece, then dealt pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million.

Three days later, Kuhn pulled an even bigger shocker. He voided the deals, saying he was taking his lawsuit-producing action in the interest of preserving baseball's integrity.

The new House Select Committee on Professional Sports want the two combatants, along with owners George Steinbrenner of the Yanks and Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox, to come to Washington to defend their positions before the panel.

Some members want them here for a hearing next week. Chairman B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said at the panel's first meeting Wednesday that an attempt will be made to schedule a hearing next week or, if that's not possible, the week of July 19.

The 13-member special House committee formed to investigate professional sports was created last month as a result of baseball's rebuff of Sisk's ad hoc panel, which has been seeking unsuccessfully to bring baseball back to the nation's capital since the end of the 1971 season, when the American League's Washington Senators moved to Texas.

Sisk said the committee would first investigate baseball and then move on to other sports.

Remodeling A 200-Year-Old House

AFTER BUYING A 200-year-old house in Washington, Conn., Father Willoughby Newton remodeled it, including the removal of walls to make one large living area.

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

Where do church people go when they retire?

That thought occurred to Father Willoughby Newton one day and he realized it was something he should face up to — sooner than later. It turned him into a do-it-yourselfer.

The Virginia-born Episcopalian priest is headmaster of the girls' school, Wykeham Rise, at Washington, Conn.

"I suddenly realized that I had never really had a home of my own," he says. "I've always lived in the homes of other people. Sometime I'd want my own house . . ."

He decided he had "a good number of work years ahead so he could afford to make the house investment now." If he waited 15 or so years, he felt he might not be able to afford it.

Within a short walk of the school, off a lane appropriately called Sabbath Lane, he found Sabbath House, a 200-year-old house that he could remodel "without raising the hackles of neighbors." Built before the Revolution, the rooms were tiny, two above, two below, plus bath and kitchen.

A maintenance man-friend who worked for him at the school agreed to lend a guiding hand and as it turned out he was "an indefatigable worker."

The design had been put on paper — he had once wanted to be an architect — Father Newton explained, and he knew that he would remove several walls. "Not renowned for my manual skills, I soon discovered that a wrecking bar has two ends. If one doesn't work, you try the other," he said.

He did all the gutting of lathe and sheet rock, he helped cart some of the new sheet rock, and he even learned to cut it. He also put insulation into walls and floors. He worked inside closets and did a lot of the painting.

"At the school I somehow never feel I have completed a project. But here I had the feeling that I was accomplishing something every time I worked. And it was therapeutic. The work stretched from a couple of hours a day to some 12-hour days on Saturdays and vacation days. In fact, I complained to my co-worker that I had never worked him that hard at school," he said, laughing.

A contractor was hired to add 12 feet to the house for a new kitchen area, "at the back of the house because I'm such a messy cook," he said.

The fireplace was paneled with yellow pine taken from the old bedroom doors and with walls removed on either side it opened the two rooms into a 24-by-24-foot area. Wide floor boards were stained walnut for an old look.

In addition to family heirlooms, acquisitions from friends and his own contemporary purchases — Barcelona chairs and a Portuguese rug — there is a handsome collection of porcelain colored eggs on the bookshelves, bright white porcelain and ironstone on a circular table, and unusual wall art that includes a photograph of the tombstone of Peter Thorp, first occupant of the house.

"I'm considering renting the house so that I can afford eventually to add a convenient bedroom and bath on the lower floor," Father Newton, said, adding that "once you start do-it-yourself, you are sort of hooked."

Vampire's Adventures Fail To Interest

INTERVIEW WITH THE VAMPIRE. By Anne Rice. Knopf. 372 Pages. $8.95.

Whether or not Anne Rice set out deliberately to write a tour de force isn't important, since she obviously has with "Interview With The Vampire." What is important is whether it was worth the effort, and the answer is, not really.

Granted, the idea is an interesting one. A vampire who was made a vampire at the age of 25 in 1791 strikes up an acquaintance with a young man in present-day San Francisco and agrees to a tape-recorded interview. The rest of the book is devoted to the vampire's remembrances of things past.

None of these memories are especially pleasant — largely devoted as they must be to the care and feeding of vampires — nor are they especially interesting although, of course, there are some exceptions, such as the vampire's trip from the United States to Transylvania in search of "relatives." But, on the whole, while the vampire's adventures are novel enough to compel further reading for perhaps the first hundred pages, they do tend to become sticky going after that.

And the generally sluggish pace of the plot isn't helped any by the frequent patches of overblown prose that so often crop up. A little bit of "great banana trees stroked the galleries of the inner courts, and masses of fern and flower crowded the mouth of the passage" and "the air grew cool and refreshing with the fragrance of water, and I could see the droplets bleeding through the stones like beads of gold . . ." can go an awfully long way.

In subject matter and in style, Miss Rice is reminiscent of that school of writers who flourished briefly in the 19th century and were known as the "decadents." A difference, though, is that they were better at this sort of thing.

People Replace Sharks In Benchley's Latest

THE DEEP. By Peter Benchley. Doubleday. 301 Pages. $7.95.

To answer first questions, first, No, a shark does not occupy stage center in Peter Benchley's new novel, "The Deep." People do. Yes, there are sharks in "The Deep," but they play minor roles, do little more than swell a scene or two.

True, some of the persons in this fast-paced production exhibit shark-like tendencies at times, but considering the events they find themselves involved in there's little else they can do.

In his latest, Benchley, who touched off a minor phenomenon with his "Jaws," tells of an American couple, David and Gail Sanders, who go to Bermuda to honeymoon but quickly find themselves enmeshed in a hard-driving adventure that takes them deep under water as they drive to recover a fortune in drugs.

The bottles of opium, morphine, etc., were cargo on a ship that went down during a storm. While pleasure diving, the Sanders' accidentally dig up one of the bottles. It seems that no sooner are they back on land than the local bad guys know about their find — and want it.

Unsure what to do, the Sanders enlist the aid of a local giant — physically and mentally — named Romer Treece. With Treece's help, much of the cargo of drugs is recovered plus some rare and valuable jewels from another sunken ship. But the baddies are determined to have the stuff and there is plenty of bloody action as the two sides clash and clash again.

Benchley writes with a surer hand in "The Deep" than he did in "Jaws," but his characters, once again, are stick figures who are moved about as the plot — and an exciting one it is — demands.

NEW SHORTCUT?—Attempting to park in a Huntington Bank drive-in parking space, the driver of this vehicle mistakenly struck the accelerator, causing the car to move over an embankment, Washington C.H. police officers reported.

Miscue sends car over embankment

In the process of parking early Thursday, a Washington C. H. woman apparently accelerated by mistake, causing her car to be propelled partially over an embankment, Washington C. H. police officers reported.

Dorothy E. Carman, 60, of 643 Comfort Lane, told police officers that as she was attempting to park in the Huntington Bank drive-in parking lot, 135 N. Fayette St., her foot slipped off the brake pedal and struck the accelerator.

The car traveled forward, striking a parked car belonging to Roger F. Miller, 201 River Road, and then stopped halfway over an embankment in front of the parking space.

Both cars were moderately damaged in the 8:35 a.m. Thursday mishap.

A car driven by Lucy M. McElwain, 88, of Greenfield, struck the second car of a passing train near the 1100 block of S. Elm Street, at 1:44 p.m. Wednesday. Ms. McElwain apparently did not hear the whistle or see the engine of the approaching train. Her car was moderately damaged, and no one was injured.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that a car driven by David D. Scott, 35, of Jeffersonville, lost control of his car on a curve in Jeffersonville.

The car had been westbound on State Street, when it went off the road near Main Street, and damaged some road signs. The car was moderately damaged in the 12:15 a.m. Thursday accident.

Joblessness rate falls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The rate of joblessness decreased to 6.9 per cent in Ohio in May as more work became available, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said Wednesday.

Employment improved moderately. In May 1975, 4.31 million were employed. In the past month, 4.38 million had jobs.

The hardest hit industry during the recession—manufacturing—added 20,000 employees during the year, also lengthening the average workweek by 1.7 hours.

In May, 324,000 persons were without work, compared to 430,000 during the corresponding period the previous year. Unemployment dropped from the May 1975 rate of 9.1 per cent, compared to 7.4 per cent in April 1976.

Ohio's unemployment rate will probably rise seasonally in June, as students enter the labor market for permanent or summer jobs," a report by the bureau said Wednesday. "With continued recovery, rate should drop and employment peak for year by October."

Factory employment reached 1.27 million with the average workweek up to 41.5 hours. Production employees in the factory grossed $249 a week last month, a record high that includes overtime but not the value of fringe benefits. Gross hourly earnings reached $6, also a record level. Average hourly earnings over the year amounted to a 10 per cent gain.

In non-manufacturing, the pattern was mixed but the net result moved ahead. Construction, transportation and utilities still must recover to levels of a year earlier in employment. However, service industries increased nearly 28,000 while wholesale and retail trade added 9,000 to the payroll.

Rebate program to conserve gas

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Power and Light Co. estimates that a rebate program by a Dayton-based company which paid 20 per cent toward its employees' bills for insulating their attics will save about 10.5 million cubic feet of natural gas each year.

The company, Reynolds and Reynolds, a producer of business forms and electronic data processing services, said the rebate offer was conceived as a means of saving southwestern Ohio jobs that may be lost because of natural gas curtailments at manufacturing plants.

The firm says 97 per cent of its workers participated in the program which cost about $4,958 and resulted in about $25,000 in sales for local insulation dealers.

Jack Ford says Nixon misled dad

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Ford says former President Richard Nixon took advantage of many Americans, including himself and his father, the President.

Young Ford, 23, also replied with a flat "no" when asked during an interview whether Nixon has a future in the Republican party.

Part of the segment for the CBS program "June Magazine," telecast today, was filmed while the President's son was being interviewed by a Rolling Stone magazine writer aboard a campaign bus in California.

Asked if Nixon is still on the minds of Republicans, young Ford replied:

"A lot of people just feel like they got taken advantage of, screwed over, quite frankly. I'm one of those people. I worked for Richard Nixon in '72. I voted for Richard Nixon; I thought he was the best candidate."

"Richard Nixon didn't treat my father the way my father treated him."

Ford said his father "feels if a guy can look him in the eye and say, 'I am not a crook, I'm an honest man,' he's going to take that man at his word...."

"He looked my father in the eye and said, 'Jerry, I'm innocent, all this is fabrication of the press, I need your help to try to put an end to it.'"
